Former Veterans' Bureau Head Says Regarding
Story of $500 Bills.TESTIFIES HE PAID $27-HOTEL BILLDeclares Treasury Department Was Committed to Site for the Hospital at Excelsior Springs, Mo.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Piecing out details of his denial of the charges against him, former Director
Charles R. Forbes of the Veterans' Bureau put new thrills into the Senate veterans' investigation today by fully contradicting the testimony of several previous witnesses.The witness characterized as "absolutely false" the testimony of Elias H. Mortimer of Philadelphia that the Thompson-Black Co. of Chicago,
which Mortimer said he represented,
was furnished with a "confidential" list
of proposed sites for hospital
sites so it could select the one on which it preferred to build.Questioned about his relations with Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer, Forbes said he met Mrs. Mortimer first at the Veterans' Bureau, and soon afterward was introduced to Mortimer.
He denied that Mrs. Mortimer was at the bureau on soldier welfare work,
saying she was there to visit a woman
employee.He said he became "fairly intimate" with the Mortimers and found them "agreeable companions." Coming then to the famous Pacific Coast resort with them in the summer of 1922, Forbes said it was Mortimer who suggested that he and Mrs. Mortimer accompany the Forbes party to the West, as Mortimer never had been to that section.No Talk About Expenses.
Forbes said there would be a lot of men in the party, the witness
continued, "but that I did not see any objection to their going if they desired."Forbes said there had been no conversation with Mortimer about expenses of the trip.
"Why did you stop at Chicago?"
asked Easby-Smith.
"To inspect the Speedway Hospital
and to visit patients in the Marine Hospital," was the reply.The witness said he met J. W.
Thompson at Chicago, but not by arrangement. Before that he had seen him in Washington.
Thompson having called on him in connection with a claim against the Government growing out of a seizure of a ship.Forbes testified as to the arrangement of the rooms of his official party at the Drake Hotel, where Mortimer testified he loaned Forbes
$500 in the form of ten $50 bills.Says He Paid Mortimer's Bill.
Up to that time, Forbes said, Mortimer had been talking about contracting. "But I never gave him any encouragement," he added.Asked about the testimony of Mortimer that Forbes had stated that while he was in an official capacity
in Hawaii he had "fixed things so nobody lost money," Forbes exclaimed, "Again Mortimer lies!"
"Try to restrain yourself," warned Easby-Smith."I am restraining myself," returned Forbes.
Questioned about Mortimer's claim that he had paid Forbes' bill at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Philadelphia,
Forbes said the reverse was the case,
that he paid $27.50 for Mortimer. He explained that he was not well and had asked Mortimer where he could spend a quiet week end. Mortimer suggested the Ritz-Carlton. Forbes denied that he attended any party
there. He said he retired early.
Later, he continued, a man came to his room and said the party had left without paying a bill of $27.50."I paid the bill," the witness said.
"I paid the bill," the witness said.
"It seems Mortimer had left the hotel
for a short time, and they were anxious about the bill. I never permitted Mortimer or anyone else to pay my expenses. If my secretary was alone I gave him the money to pay bills and if he was not alone, I paid them."Forbes passed the lie direct to Mortimer, who had told the investigating committee that under Forbes' administration confidential information was furnished certain contractors regarding proposed hospital sites."Mortimer states that," said the former director, "he states that as a lie."Then he turned to Mortimer, who was seated at a table with the committee counsel and exclaimed: "You laugh!"Chairman Reed of the committee interposed. "You are testifying to

TO DEATH BY ANOTHER BOYJohn Cottingham, 17 Years Old, Slain by Gilbert
Brooks, 15, as Result of Neighborhood Feud.Rowdy tactics of street-corner groups of boys in the vicinity of Fourteenth street and Park avenue culminated fatally last night for John Cottingham, 17 years old, of 1114 Grattan street.He was stabbed to death, while his mother looked on in horror, by Gilbert Brooks, 15, of 1301 South Fourteenth street, during a trivial altercation in front of the Cottingham boy's home.Brooks, turned over to the police
by his mother, using a hunting knife
with a blade six inches long that he purchased yesterday, for the purpose, he told police, of learning to become a knife thrower, such as he had seen in circus sideshows.He was held at the House of Detention and others of his associates in a neighborhood gang were arrested in the investigation and held for the Juvenile Court.Slayer's Version of Trouble.
"John's brother hit my little brother and took his chewing gum,"
the Brooks boy plaintively told police in answer to questions, "and when I went to see John's brother
about it John came out and slapped
my face and knocked me down and I got up and swiped at him with the knife."The Cottingham family, John, his brother, Vincent, 15, and his mother and stepfather, were at supper about 7 o'clock, when Gilbert Brooks, from the sidewalk, called at Vincent to come out.Vincent went to the door and when he observed Brooks, member of an enemy gang, he ran back in the house, "to get something to defend himself," his mother later said.John thereupon left the table, went outside and ordered the Brooks boy to go away. A few hot words passed and the stabbing followed.The Brooks boy told police that Cottingham first slapped him and then struck him a fist blow on the jaw, knocking him down, whereupon
he drew the knife and struck aimlessly in self-defense. The knife entered the lower abdomen of Cottingham and death resulted in a few minutes.Mother Sees Son Killed.
Cottingham's mother said she went to the window when John went outside and saw the Brooks boy on the sidewalk with the knife unsheathed in his hand. She said her son merely ordered the Brooks boy to go away and did not strike him.The wounded boy was placed in a passing automobile, but died before reaching City Hospital. Brooks fled from the scene, but said he returned later out of curiosity and when he heard that Cottingham had died, went home and told his mother,
who telephoned the police to come and get her son. Policemen found the bloodstained knife in its sheath
on a lot where it had been thrown by Dorothy Brooks, sister of the slayer.Questioned at length, Brooks said
his brother, Walter, 12, and another lad went Monday night with several other boys held Walter, slapped
his face and took some chewing gum and a book from him. This occurred at Fourteenth street and Park avenue,
where the rival gangs occasionally
congregate.Prepared for an Emergency.
This prompted Gilbert to go to the Cottingham home last night to "see
about" the attack upon his brother.
He stoutly declared he purchased the knife to learn to be a knife thrower,
and not to attack the Cottingham brothers, remarking that he took it with him last night for an "emergency
in case of trouble."The homicide squad took two other boys into custody as witnesses for the coroner's inquest. They were present when the "gang" took Walter Brooks' chewing gum Monday night.ONLY 6 PASSENGERS ON LINER

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Nov. 14.—
A bomb believed to have been sent from San Antonio, exploded
shortly after noon today in the home of J. A. Barnes, real estate dealer of this city, killing Barnes and his 12-year-old son, Mrs. Barnes and a servant girl were injured, but not fatally. The explosion blew Barnes to pieces. The boy lived about 20 minutes.Parts of Barnes' body were found in a tree, and one of his shoes was found in an adjoining house, having been blown through a window. The explosion wrecked the rear part of the Barnes home and blew the windows of residences for a distance of a block.The infernal machine was delivered by express to the Barnes home between 10 and 11 a. m. It was addressed to Barnes and was from San Antonio. Mrs. Barnes said that the box in which the machine was delivered bore a return address of "Cone, North Flores street, San Antonio."When Barnes arrived home, about 12:15 he took the box out to the back porch, accompanied by his son, and started to open it. Mrs. Barnes and the servant were in the house. Shortly afterward the explosion occurred.AWARD FOR WORK TO KEEP MAN

November, 1918, he worked first to have the call for Harold Stiers denaval coast defense reserve. For this work, which was unavailing, he asked $500.Young Stiers was called and served in the Medical Corps, but did not go

because Turner was a member of a legal advisory draft board, he should have worked for nothing.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Two bank messengers were murdered by two robbers who stole $43,600 from them in a spectacular holdup today at the Fifty-fifth street station of the West End subway line in Brooklyn.The station was filled with persons on their way to work when the robbers opened fire, later fleeing with their haul in an automobile for which the police sent out a general alarm within a 50-mile radius of the city.The messengers, who were shot, were William S. Barlow and William H. McLaughlin, both of Brooklyn, and employed by the West End bank. They were taking the money to another bank.Met on Stairs by Robbers.
Carrying the money in a black bag, the messengers boarded a West End train at Fifty-fifth street, where the subway trains run on an overhead structure, getting out at the Fifty-fifth street station.As they were descending the stairs
they were met by the two robbers, passengers on the platform heard
several shots but could not see exactly what happened.Persons on the street, however,
saw the robbers snatch up the bag,
jump into the automobile and disappear.Pedestrians were unable to get the license number, for the robbers had adopted the latest device of burning some compound which emits a

The coroner's inquest into the mysterious murder of Marie Bowers, 16-year-old telephone operator, was continued today for the second time, to give the police homicide squad an opportunity for further investigation,
along lines of information newly obtained. The hearing will be resumed Friday at 9 a. m.At that time it is expected that Clarence Level, the girl's fiance, will testify. Level, who has been held by the police since the girl's death Saturday night, was released after today's hearing on a $300 bond
furnished by his father and uncle.
His story, as told to the police, is that an armed negro took the girl
from him, dragged her into an ally
and shot her.The coroner's office was crowded
at the second session of the inquest today. Witnesses were persons who were in the vicinity of Twenty-first street and Chouteau avenue at the time of the shooting, about 9:30 p. m.
Saturday.The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs.
Henry Bowers of 1240 South Vandewater avenue, and Level's parents,
who live at 1230 Missouri avenue,
were at the hearing. Mrs. Bowers said she and her husband probably would not grant Level's request that he be permitted to attend the girl's funeral, at the Bowers home tomorrow.Negroes Testify.
The first of the witnesses heard in today's two-hour session of the inquest was a negro man and a woman who saw a young man and woman walking ahead of them
across the Twenty-first street viaduct,
and who thought at first that the two were scuffling in an unfriendly manner, but then saw them kiss. The two witnesses loitered on the viaduct, and heard of the shooting when they reached Chouteau avenue.The girl's mother, Mrs. Louise Bowers, testified to the engagement between Marie and Level. She said the two often quarreled, and that Marie expressed the fear that Level would whip her. Once, when she saw her with another youth, the girl replied "Clarence will kill me if he finds this out." The girl, however,
never mentioned any actual threat
by Level against her life, and never told of seeing him have any weapon,
she said. She said she had no knowledge of possession of any weapon by him.Last Friday night, the night before her death, Marie returned home with her sister, the mother said, and the mother and Level had another quarrel.The mother said Level would sometimes take Marie in his automobile,
and that when they went by street car, he would put her on a car and would not accompany her home. Level drank, the mother said, and this resulted in one automobile accident, in which Marie was hurt.Heard Shot and Scream.
Mrs. Lillie Voecker of 1930A Papin

police, has related that Marie

OELS, Prussian Silesia, Nov. 14.—
"Cows and chickens are the things for me, not politics," said the former Crown Prince, Friedrich Wilhelm, in a talk with the correspondent upon his estate. He characterized it as his "very last interview."The ex-Crown Prince was happy to be back in his old home with his family. He walked over his estates and chatted with servants. He found everything in good order, but suffering from the general wave of depression caused by Germany's economic and financial collapse."I am here as a private citizen,
as I have repeatedly said before,"
continued Friedrich Wilhelm. "I am not interested in politics. I plan to lead a simple isolated life, devoting
my whole attention to my family and my farm. It would be the biggest possible service to me if the press would leave me alone. I cannot make an extended statement."The former Crown Prince received the correspondent in the library of his castle. The Princess Cecilie clung to his arm, her lustrous dark eyes
radiating happiness.Wilhelm's first question was:
"How is Berlin?"His hair is all gray.
A smile sparkled in his eyes, but his face saddened when the reporter replied that the people of Berlin were without bread.Wilhelm has aged. His hair is all gray. His wife commented, saying he was much changed—much more grave and mature. His face was bronzed and weather-beaten from long motor boat trips and shooting through hundreds of tiny wrinkles."I give you my word that all I long for is quiet and rest with my family, and healthy outdoor work,"
said Wilhelm.He was visibly shocked when told of the misery and food shortage. He said he thought the reports he had read in Dutch newspapers were exaggerated."We country fellows will have to work hard to feed the cities," Wilhelm commented.He inquired after certain Berlin
artists, especially painters.
"Poor fellows," he exclaimed.
"They have a hard time these days
making both ends meet.""I am so happy," he exclaimed.
"I feel like a schoolboy. But I want you fellows to play square. Don't attribute any sensational political comments to me in your press dispatches. I am not making any. Put yourself in my position. I know the world is watching me. Many people hope I will make a fatal break. But I won't do them this favor."In telling of his delight at being in his old home, Wilhelm said:MRS. STOKES TO GET

Germany again, Wilhelm said:
"When I first set foot on German to kiss the earth of my beloved Ra-therland. The silent prayer I sent

The former Crown Prince referred to himself as "a young farmer trying to get along," adding: "But not so young, either. Look at this gray head.""I am not a public figure," he said. "I do wish the newspapers
would be good sports and not press
me to the limit. Until yesterday I would be an unfair advantage and trying to my brain if you journalists
cross-examined me. I am not a political man. I am not trained in dodging journalistic traps. So please, boys, have a heart."The former Crown Prince was anxious to learn about David Lloyd George's reception in America, and also the British political situation.Toward the end of the interview
the Crown Prince's two young daughters, with their blonde hair hanging down their back, and their young brother rushed up. They grabbed their father by the coat tails and tried to pull him away.Wilhelm picked up little Princess to the ceiling. As he impetuously caught her in his arms he crushed

BRITAIN TO REFUSE TO JOIN INQUIRY ON REPARATIONS

Poincare's Move to Name Committee Regarded as an Attempt to Separate England and America.

PLAN LIKE THAT HUGHES REJECTED

Legality of the Ruhr Occupation May Be Questioned by British Member of Reparations Commission.

Special Cable to New York World and Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Great Britain will refuse to be drawn into Premier Poincare's committee of experts to assess German capacity to pay reparations because the French Premier's move is regarded in the highest quarters as an attempt to drive a wedge between Britain and America.

The conditions under which Poincare will request the Reparations Commission to act exactly correspond to those which Secretary Hughes declared futile and useless. With this verdict, British statesmen are in accord, although had America wished, they would have agreed to Poincare's previous reservations.

Within 10 days after the Reparations Commission has heard a German representative on Germany's capacity, the Poincare plan will be placed before it.

Poincare will act with the knowledge that Baron d'Abernon, the British Ambassador in Berlin, has recommended that an inquiry be held, however restricted, on the ground that if nothing positive is accomplished, at least the facts can be brought into the open.

Foreign Secretary Curzon dissents, holding Poincare's main object is to set Britain into an inquiry which the United States has repudiated, thus sowing discord between London and Washington.

Mr. John Bradbury, the British member of the Reparations Commission, will therefore be instructed to vote against the proposed inquiry.

It is recognized here, however, that if the French Premier wishes his committee to act, he has it for Belgium will vote with France, and even if Italy sides with England, the French chairman casts the deciding vote in case of a tie.

Occupation of Hamburg Suggested as Penalty for Germany.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Occupation of Hamburg and other important railroad centers are mentioned in French circles as possible penalties for Germany because of its obstructive tactics.

Before the commission yesterday Louis Barthou, French delegate, dwelt on the necessity of ascertaining the total German assets in foreign countries. Any new scheme for the payment of reparations, he said, should take into account the old schedule fixed at the London conference of May, 1921.

Mr. John Bradbury of Great Britain said he thought that under the present circumstances the article of this treaty by virtue of which the Germans asked for hearing had been rendered practically useless by the action of some of the Powers, evidently referring to the occupation of the Ruhr.

The impression in reparations circles was that the commission was losing effectiveness, and that the reparations question could and would be settled only by the governments.

United States Not to Take Part in Inquiry.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The United States will take no part in the reparations inquiry along restricted lines now proposed by Premier Poincare. Since the French Premier is unwilling to let an expert committee of the Reparations Commission make a comprehensive investigation. President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes have dropped the matter.

BRITAIN MAY RAISE ISSUE OF RUHR OCCUPATION

By FERDINAND TUOHY, Paris Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—After rusting for 10 months, the Reparations Commission today restarted when Chairman Barthou, on behalf of the French Government, proposed that the Germans should be heard in regard to the state of their finances.

He also proposed that an expert subcommittee of allied and associated representatives be formed to investigate the Reich's resources for the years 1924, 1925 and 1926. This is four years less than Premier Poincare offered Secretary Hughes. However, the German representative, Herr Hermanns will be heard Nov. 23, if possible.

James A. Logan, the American observer, sat silent, as did the Italian, Belgian and British representatives. But Sir John Bradbury, the British member, read a statement. He held out little hope of progress from hearing the Germans, but agreed to do so. Then, in discussing what further steps the commission should take, he insisted it should "investigate without fear or favor" the causes of the present situation and recommend remedies as it sees fit.

I understand Sir John proposes to bring up the legality of the Ruhr occupation in the near future and if he fails to get a discussion he will resign.

Union Heads to See Coolidge

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Executives of the 16 standard railway labor organizations met here today at the headquarters of the International Association of Machinists to work out a definite legislative program in connection with questions that will come before the forthcoming session of Congress. The meeting was called by Warren E. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

A committee headed by D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Firemen, will call on President Coolidge this afternoon to present the views of railway labor toward various tax revision proposals, including that recently brought forward by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

BRITAIN IS "NOT INTERESTED" IN EX-CROWN PRINCE

This Is Answer Given by Foreign Office to Belgian Suggestion of Strong Measures Against Germany.

FRANCE URGES JOINT ACTION

London Government Officials Say England Will Not Support Seizure of German Ports.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—France is bringing strong pressure to bear on Great Britain looking to joint action for the expulsion of the former Crown Prince from Germany.

For the moment the British Government believes it useless to try to undo the accomplished fact, but no decision regarding a final policy will be announced until the Cabinet, which is meeting today, has carefully examined the whole subject in the light of Premier Poincare's latest overtures.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Baron Moncheur, the Belgian Ambassador, today (Tuesday) suggested to the British Foreign Office measures to be taken against Germany if she does not expel the former Crown Prince or give him up to the allies.

The proposed measures were described to the Post-Dispatch and the New York World as "fairly strong."

The Ambassador hinted that if this is done, France might make a concession regarding reparations. He was told the British were not interested in the movements of Friedrich Wilhelm.

Despite strong threats against Germany in the French press and in semi-official circles regarding the exile's return, Lord Crewe, British Ambassador in Paris, reported today that Premier Poincare showed little interest in the former Crown Prince and seemed disinclined to take the matter seriously.

France is urging Great Britain to send a strong rejoinder to Germany regarding the seizure of the territory.

Germany's negative reply to the Allied request for greater protection and latitude of action for the interallied military control commission, France favors energetic action being taken against Germany if Berlin refuses to give up the former Crown Prince or declines to extend the safeguards and authority requested for the control commission.

In the British view the seizure of territory or other German ports is not to be ruled out from possible action by France if Germany refuses to capitulate, but officials here declare England will decline to support any such drastic measures.

There appears a clearly defined effort on the part of Premier Poincare to establish greater unity of action between France and England so as to impress the Berlin Cabinet and discourage the former Kaiser from attempting to regain his liberty.

The views of the British Cabinet on these and other points raised by the Paris Government are expected to be communicated to the Council of Ambassadors in Paris this afternoon.

Belgian Deputies to Demand Extradition of Former Prince.

By the Associated Press.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 14.—Deputies Van Hock, Bouesses and Mathieu, respectively, members of the Catholic, Liberal and Socialist parties, today (Tuesday) demanded that the Government take action to return of the former Crown Prince to Germany.

The interpellators will demand that the Government ask the extradition of the Crown Prince in conformity with article 228 of the treaty of Versailles.

The three deputies, the first two of whom belong to the governmental majority, also will request the Government to take measures to prevent a similar return to Germany of the former Kaiser, "which is in course of preparation." The interpellations contain criticisms of Holland's attitude. It is expected they will be presented tomorrow.

London Newspapers Still Suspicious of Ex-Kaiser's Designs.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Notwithstanding the official equanimity over reports that the former Kaiser was planning to return to the Fatherland, some of the newspapers here continue to express suspicion as to his designs.

The Doorn correspondent of the Daily Mail says the former Kaiser's return has been under consideration for several weeks.

GEN. LUDENDORFF'S SERVANT IN WAR KILLED IN PUTSCH

"Work for Which He Died Will Be Carried Through," Leader Says at Grave.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

MUNICH, Nov. 13.—Gen. Ludendorff in full uniform today followed the coffin of his soldier-servant, to the grave, the dead man's mother leaning on his arm.

The man was killed during the recent putsch while fighting at the side of the master he served all through the war.

The coffin was draped in the old imperial colors and carried by four of Adolf Hitler's followers in uniform. The servants steel helmet rested on the top. Behind Ludendorff marched a file of Hitlerites in uniform decorated with the swastika.

"The work for which our comrade laid down his life will not die, but will be carried through," the General declared in a short speech at the grave and when he had finished the Hitlerites raised their arms and shouted, "Vengeance."

The epitaph, written by Gen. Ludendorff, was as follows: "In a battle for the building of a people's state, the soldier-servant of the General, Kurt Neubauer, knight of many war orders, my faithful, true, brave servant, A German man, Honor to his memory."

Tears coursed down the General's cheeks as the casket was lowered.

PLAN UNDER CONSIDERATION FOR BUS LINE TO JENNINGS

Request Made for Right to Run Vehicles on 5-Cent Fare at Regular Intervals.

After nearly two years of wishing for better transportation facilities into St. Louis, residents of Jennings, a suburb northwest of the city, hope next week to see action taken that will afford them the relief longed for since a guerrilla warfare between irregular "jitneys" and their "trolley Trolleys" killed off the "trolley" without leaving the "jitneys" strong to handle traffic efficiently.

At that time the Board of Public Service is expected to hand down its verdict on the request of V. J. Becherer, 5400 Vernon avenue, to operate a systematically scheduled bus line between the Bellefontaine car line terminus at Robin avenue and Jennings. Becherer, who filed his petition yesterday, said he intended to run 25-passenger capacity busses, on a 5-cent fare, trips probably to be made at 15 and 30 minute intervals. Later he hopes to extend the line to Woodland, nearby.

About 20 Jennings residents told the board they thought his plan would solve their transportation problem.

PROSECUTOR, IN BLACK MASK, MAKES ARGUMENT TO JURY

Speech Results in Conviction of Man on Charge of Possessing Burglar Tools.

Assistant Circuit Attorney John Bowcock, wearing a black mask, made an argument to a jury in Circuit Judge Falkenhainer's court today which resulted in a sentence of two years in the penitentiary for Wayne McCalmont, 23 years old.

The defendant was charged with felonious possession of burglar tools. The mask Bowcock put on was part of the equipment police seized from McCalmont in his possession when arrested Aug. 1 last at Beaumont and Market streets.

Bowcock first asked Police Lieutenant Gunn, one of the State's witnesses, to put on the mask and show the jury how completely it would conceal his face from the jury.

Police produced two screwdrivers and two knives as the tools they had taken from McCalmont. They also stated that McCalmont was in parole from an Ohio reformatory when arrested. The defendant made no statement.

Allied Ambassadors Fail to Consider Course of Action.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The Allied Council of Ambassadors failed to consider at its meeting today the question of what action should be taken in connection with return of the former Crown Prince to Germany and as to Germany's attitude regarding the resumption of allied military control.

The session was devoted to routine work and it is understood the Ambassadors avoided mentioning these two questions because the allies were not in accord.

Demonstrations by Ruhr Unemployed. One Fatal Clash

By the Associated Press.

DUESSELDORF, Nov. 14.—One person was killed and 20 others wounded during a clash last night between the police and a crowd of the unemployed holding a demonstration. The demonstrations continued today, the crowds which paraded the streets all day yesterday protesting against the unemployment situation resuming their tactics this morning. In general they were orderly. The singing of the "Internationale" was a feature of the demonstration.

Bavarian Rebels May Be Prosecuted on Charges of Treason.

SCHOOL CHILDREN AT CASTLE WHEN EX-PRINCE ARRIVES

By SAMUEL SPEWACK, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

OELS, Silesia, Nov. 13.—At 6 o'clock this evening (Tuesday) three automobiles drove up to the gates of Castle Oels. Two of them went by a side entrance, the third drove through the main. In it sat former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, home after five years of exile, and his three elder sons, who had accompanied him from Potsdam to Oels.

All four were dressed in leather coats and caps. Only the long nose protruding from under the cap identified Friedrich Wilhelm. His face, devoid of animation, was turned toward the castle.

No guns boomed salute to the returned exile; there was no official ceremony of any kind. Outside the gate of the castle stood some 50 school children and three adults. As the gates swung open to admit the prince, there were a few cheers, but none of the travelers looked to the right or left. The gate closed behind them, but not before the watchers outside could see valets opening the doors of the castle proper, a sight for which the children had waited all afternoon.

Former Crown Princess Cecilie did not make herself visible, but according to the customs of Silesia there will probably be elaborate ceremonies and much feasting for the homecoming.

to their own devices or to the pleasure of France and Belgium.

The impression grows that the Cabinet Ministers, State Premiers and spokesmen of the occupied region, in directing secret conference here yesterday, had concluded upon the abandonment of Federal jurisdiction over these areas as a means of saving the rest of the country.

The fact that further support of the Ruhr and Rhineland populations would constitute a serious burden on the Reich is believed to have influenced Germany's leaders in deciding to leave on the shoulders of France and Belgium all responsibility for the fate of the German people in occupied territory.

Apparently authentic reports were in circulation yesterday that the Government was to proclaim an autonomous Rhineland and considerable surprise was manifest last night when an official statement declared the Government would never "annex" the proclamation of a Rhineland republic.

It was in this statement, issued at the conclusion of the secret conference, that the Government explained anew the seriousness of the unemployment problem and of the general social and industrial conditions in the Ruhr and Rhineland, giving the impression the Reich could no longer consider itself responsible for the occupied provinces.

This inference was strengthened when it was learned in official quarters that the Government considered such a revision of its policy to be the only possible course at its disposal.

The following semi-official statement was issued:

"With regard to many reports abroad that an autonomous Rhineland was to be proclaimed with the consent of the Imperial Government, it is stated in authoritative circles that the Imperial Government maintains its attitude that no discussion is possible with regard to the alterations in the legal relations of the Rhineland and the Ruhr to the Reich."

"The Imperial Government will never take any step in this direction and will never sanction the proclamation of a Rhineland republic. The only authority for any alterations in the relations of the Rhineland to the Reich is the Constitution of the Reich."

COOLIDGE STATEMENT CRITICISED IN PARIS

Semi-Official Paper Says "No Intervention" Stand Will Encourage German Royalists.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The declaration in Washington that the American Government could not join the allies in protesting the return to Germany of the former Crown Prince or the ex-Kaiser moves the semi-official Temps today to an editorial in which it says this is certainly to encourage the German monarchists. The newspaper, however, feels sure that such an effect was not anticipated when the declaration was given out in Washington.

"Yesterday's American communique, designed undoubtedly to proclaim a policy of non-intervention, risks producing in Germany the effects of intervention," the newspaper says.

The statement of the American attitude, the newspaper points out, arrived from Washington during a time of waiting and perhaps anxiety. It will be read in Germany with great interest and will be pointed out that it was from Washington that the words came in October, 1918, which precipitated the Kaiser's fall.

"But now," it adds, "they see the Government of the United States declaring in advance that it will not oppose a monarchist restoration and apparently limiting the resistance to the present situation, observes the Frankfurter Gazette, the leading South German Liberal organ."

The newspaper rejects the inference that the homecoming suggests a suspicious relation to the recent Munich "putsch," but it observes that if he finds a "welcome home" sign stuck up on the door of his castle at Oels, it will reflect an untruth.

The article continues: "The United States could not have foreseen that its communique could be exploited by the German monarchists but it is none the less true that the chances of the Hohenzollerns and of war seem to be growing. The allies must unite to dissipate this nightmare."

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington yesterday said that President Coolidge believes the traditional policy of the American Government would preclude it from joining with the allied governments in protesting to Germany against the return to the former Crown Prince or the former Emperor, or in measure to prevent the re-establishment of the monarchy.

"The chief executive feels that the United States should abide by its long-established tenet that any action is within its rights in establishing or whatever form of government it desired that police should be followed with respect to all European countries."

"The allied Governments, in the view of officials here, have a right to act under the Treaty of Versailles to protect and take such measures as they deem advisable. The United States, not having a part in the treaty, is under no such obligation."

HARVEY AND COOLIDGE CONFER

Ambassador's Successor Also Taken Part in Discussions.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—George Harvey entered upon a series of conferences here today with President Coolidge, Secretary Hughes and Frank B. Kellogg, his successor as ambassador to London. Among the subjects considered was the recently negotiated agreement with Great Britain giving the United States the right to search "runners" outside the three-mile limit.

One official to whom Harvey has talked since his arrival last night to become a White House guest, said the retiring ambassador would take a two months' rest, then perhaps would announce his business and political decisions. How soon Kellogg will proceed to London remains undetermined.

Clews Obtained by Son.

Joseph Well, one of Well's sons by his first marriage, who in Fenton, was informed that the father was seen leaving an automobile on the road from Valley View Monday afternoon. But he talked later of meeting some of the son's friends and said that he would find out no more of his father's whereabouts.

Well left some Monday afternoon without saying where he was, and his wife supposed, without appreciable amount of money, that he had left. But he was usual, though he was not for long. About 4:30 p. m. he was at Hinky Dink Inn, a road north of Fenton, and said he had been in Valley Park on but a number of years ago but he owned, on which he had $150,000 in the fire. He was 530 p. m.

At 10:45 a. m. yesterday fishermen found Well's body lying erect, 400 yards south of bridge, fully clothed except for shirt and overcoat. With assistant Sheriff James Stevie, the body was removed. His watch stopped at 9:15, supposedly 8:15. Besides the $520 in there was $1.93 in change, pockets, but no papers.

Mrs. Well supposed that he had had little money and no property but the flat in which he and which, she said, she knew. Nevertheless, those who knew Fenton feel sure that he was to do. His first wife, who died in a somewhat sensational manner in 1919, obtaining $6000 money, charged that he intended to take his "fortune" to Germany, which he denied. There was confusion then of his "stinginess."

Came to Fenton as Youth.

Well came to Fenton as a youth and started a butcher shop and agency for cattle for a St. Louis company. Soon he was "half of Fenton." Perhaps one of the reasons that he was willing to go on a cot at the front door storehouse nights and get the seeds of any farmer's success, Fenton remembers Well's father.

The second Mrs. Well, who has two grown sons, was a midwife. She met Well in a house where he was a doctor. Fenton remembers Well's father.

MYSTERY IN DEATH OF MIKE WEIL, 67, 'MAYOR OF FENTON'

Theories of Foul Play, Suicide and Natural Death Advanced—Body Taken From River.

LIFE, SAYS WIDOW

Coroner Believes Heart Attack Caused Victim to Fall Into River From Bank or Bridge.

Mike Weil, 67 years old, who as 'Mayor of Fenton' was a picture figure in the town of Fenton, St. Louis County, until he retired to the city, was found dead at Fenton yesterday under circumstances sufficiently mysterious to make him once more the talk of the town—floating, head up and erect, in the Meramec River, dressed in his best suit, with $520 in his pocket.

The townspeople are stirred by consideration of three theories, namely, foul play, suicide and natural death. A coroner's verdict of death from a rupture of the coronary artery, near the heart, was returned, and Coroner Bracy declared his belief that Weil had fallen into the river from the bank or the Gravois road bridge at Fenton, after a heart attack.

No Water in Lungs. It was found that there was no water in his lungs and no marks of violence. Usually in a case of drowning the lungs fill with water and the body does not come up for some time. Townspeople, a number of whom lean to the theory of suicide, point to a statement by a neighborhood physician who had treated Weil for asthma, that the aquatic condition probably prevented water from entering the lungs. This practitioner declared that the arterial rupture might have been caused by the shock of immersion in the cold river.

Weil's widow, his second wife, who is 41 and at her home, 2245 Indiana avenue, said he often talked of killing himself, apparently dependent because he had lost money, and several times had opened gas valves in his bath, but she stopped him. She believes he committed suicide. The only reason for suspecting foul play was that the lungs were devoid of water, but she said this was the only motive conceived for this and the 'Mayor,' whose title was a focal compliment, was not robbed.

Joseph Weil, one of Weil's two sons by his first marriage, who live in Fenton, was informed that his father was seen leaving an automobile on the road from Valley Park, Mo., to Fenton, and he said he talked last of meeting some one. This son regards as suspicious. Joseph Weil could find no indication of where his father had dropped into which theory to believe.

Well left some Monday afternoon without saying where he was going, and his wife supposed, without any appreciable amount of money. He was his 'best' suit, something unusual, though he was not for meeting. About 4:30 p. m. he arrived at Hinky Dink Inn, a roadside north of Fenton, and said he had been in Valley Park on business. He talked about the fire in Fenton a number of years ago that burned his tavern and three dwellings he owned, on which he had $1000 insurance, and said he lost $40,000 or $50,000 in the fire. He left at 8:30 p. m.

At 10:45 a. m. yesterday two fishermen found Weil's body floating erect, 400 yards south of the bridge, fully clothed except for hat and overcoat. With assistance of Deputy Sheriff James Slevin the body was removed. His watch had stopped at 8:15, supposedly Monday night. Besides the $520 in bills, he was $1.82 in change in his pockets, but no papers.

Mrs. Weil supposed that her husband had little money and no property but the flat in which they live, and which, she said, he helped buy. Nevertheless, those who knew him in Fenton feel sure that he was well-to-do. His first wife, who divorced him in a somewhat sensational trial in 1919, obtaining $6000 gross all-said, charged that he intended to take his 'fortune' to Germany, which he denied. There was discussion then of his 'stinginess.'

Came to Fenton as Youth. Well came to Fenton as a youth and started a butcher shop and agency for cattle for a St. Louis produce company. Soon he owned 'half of Fenton.' Perhaps one reason was that he was willing to sleep on a cot at the front door of his storehouse nights and get up to fill the needs of any farmer making a nocturnal trip to town with produce. Fenton remembers Weil as a popular figure.

The second Mrs. Weil, who is 62 and has two grown sons, formerly was a midwife. She met Weil more than 40 years ago when she kept a house for a parish priest and he delivered groceries. They were married six months after the first Mrs. Weil was divorced.

'MAYOR OF FENTON,' FOUND DEAD IN RIVER

FORBES SAYS HE NEVER TOOK CENT FROM MORTIMER

Continued From Page One. The committee," said the chairman, "And it is not necessary for you to address other persons."

Taking up the purchase of the Excelsior Springs, Mo., hospital site from E. L. (Liv) Morse, prominent in Missouri Republican politics, Forbes said there had been a commitment by the Treasury Department to purchase the property and establish a hospital.

"Representatives in Congress came to me and explained the situation," he continued. "I in turn, discussed it with the White House. The witness then made emphatic denial that he had ever accepted a penny" from Mortimer.

"That is absolutely a lie," he said of Mortimer's story about the $500 bills in the Drake Hotel. "It's a lie," "It's false," "It's absurd," the witness repeated time and again as he was questioned about other details of Mortimer's testimony.

Says Sawyer Sought Supplies. Dr. Charles E. Sawyer had told the committee that Forbes was dismissed by the President for disobeying an order to stop surplus property sales at Perryville, Md., but the former director declared today that Mr. Harding had given him authority to release loaded cars at Perryville after the first stop order was issued.

Easy-Smith, counsel for Forbes, read into the record a requisition on the Veterans' Bureau for supplies for the soldiers' home at Dayton, O., each of four counts. James T. White, his negro porter, was fined $1 each on two counts. "I'm not going to punish him for doing the bidding of his master," said the Judge.

In San Francisco, he said, "as I wanted to discuss a number of business matters with him. We did talk about contracts for the hospital, but we had a perfect right to do. I used to be associated with his company, and I told him that before he could get any contracts he must satisfy the government that I was no longer interested, directly or indirectly, in his company. He did get a contract for the American Lake Hospital and I was glad of it. He was a fine builder, as the army well knows, and always did splendid work."

Taking up Mortimer's statement that while in Staunton, Va., Forbes first began making proposals about the illicit disposal of narcotics and liquors at Perryville, the former director said he had not discussed this subject with Mr. Hoghead or indirectly in his opening statement. "I meant the testimony of Williams and Mortimer. By subordination of perjury I meant the way in which Williams was induced to testify falsely. By a suggestion of deuce, I meant the documents which were furnished by my counsel yesterday and which proved my innocence."

Forbes then charged that Mortimer had been "brow-beaten" into testifying as he did. "Is that more than suspicion on your part?" asked O'Ryan. "It is," responded Forbes. "My counsel has the letter in evidence here the initials of Sweet."

Explains 'Jumping Into Lake.' "Now what about Mortimer's story about you and a lady friend jumping into the lake at Hayden Lake?" "How does he know? he wasn't there," Forbes answered.

Then he explained that he and some friends went on a fishing trip in the afternoon and that there was suggestion that the party go bathing. Forbes said all were roughly dressed and that he jumped into the water, which was about three feet deep.

JUDGE DYER ASSESSES STIFFER LIQUOR FINES

"Soft Drink Parlor" Reference Arouses Jurist and Man Is Fined $350.

The bargain-day campaign to relieve the congestion of liquor cases in the Federal District Court, which Judge Dyer has been conducting, was interrupted today by the infliction of some stiff fines.

Edward Rice, representing Francis Stephens, 1900 Park avenue, started the trouble. Rice remarked that Stephens was associated with his father in the grocery and soft-drink business. The judge said: "I've got all the respect in the world for a man who comes up here and tells the truth," he said, "but I'm getting tired of these fellows who are selling whiskey coming in here and calling their places soft-drink parlors. Whisky is the hardest drink in the world. You know it, and I know it. Let this man pay a fine of $350."

"And," he continued, "I want it understood that after I fine these fellows, I don't want their lawyers trailing into my chambers and asking for reductions unless they bring the prosecuting officer with them, so that I can hear both sides."

Threatens to Padlock Place. Viet Schroeder, 2356 Chouteau avenue, was charged with possession. Special Assistant Attorney-General Dyott said Schroeder was employed by a man who had been fined three times. "This is a bootlegging joint that is hard to suppress," he said. "Why don't you shut up the shop then?" shouted Judge Dyer. "You give an information and I'll put a padlock on it mighty quick. I'll fine this man $500. Let his employer pay that, too."

Ste. Genevieve Cases. Five residents of Ste. Genevieve, caught by Prohibition Enforcement Agents in a raid last Sunday, were in court. Three of them, Fred and E. L. Sexauer and John Ganahl, were represented by Former District Attorney Carroll. The three pleaded guilty. Carroll said they were members of old families and were respected citizens until the time came that anybody connected with the liquor business was not respectable.

"I know Ste. Genevieve," interrupted the Judge. "It's the oldest town in the State. And I know its people. They are fine citizens." Five bottles of liquor were found in their possession, said Dyott, "and the stuff."

"Stuff," interrupted Dyer. "You mean whiskey?" "I don't know what it was," "It was good whiskey," said Carroll. "Well, let these men pay $100 each," said the Judge.

Ernest Godier, saloon keeper, of Ste. Genevieve, was fined $100 on each of four counts. James T. White, his negro porter, was fined $1 each on two counts. "I'm not going to punish him for doing the bidding of his master," said the Judge.

In San Francisco, he said, "as I wanted to discuss a number of business matters with him. We did talk about contracts for the hospital, but we had a perfect right to do. I used to be associated with his company, and I told him that before he could get any contracts he must satisfy the government that I was no longer interested, directly or indirectly, in his company. "I meant the testimony of Williams and Mortimer. By subordination of perjury I meant the way in which Williams was induced to testify falsely. By a suggestion of deuce, I meant the documents which were furnished by my counsel yesterday and which proved my innocence."

Forbes then charged that Mortimer had been "brow-beaten" into testifying as he did. "Is that more than suspicion on your part?" asked O'Ryan. "It is," responded Forbes. "My counsel has the letter in evidence here the initials of Sweet."

Explains 'Jumping Into Lake.' "Now what about Mortimer's story about you and a lady friend jumping into the lake at Hayden Lake?" "How does he know? he wasn't there," Forbes answered.

Then he explained that he and some friends went on a fishing trip in the afternoon and that there was suggestion that the party go bathing. Forbes said all were roughly dressed and that he jumped into the water, which was about three feet deep.

Forbes then denied Mortimer's story that the former director had said on the Western trip that he was to succeed Albert B. Fall as Secretary of the Interior and that "We all will make a cleanup" on reclamation contracts. He characterized as "absurd" the assertion of Mortimer that an agreement had been made between the Hurley-Mason company and the Thompson-Black company were to divide the Western territory on hospital contracts with the profits "split" three ways and with Forbes sharing a third.

"Why, how could that have been proposed," Forbes asked, "when all of these contracts were being handled by the War and Navy Department on my request?"

Forbes said he met J. W. Black on the Pacific Coast trip and also C. B. Hurley of the Hurley-Mason company, whom he had known for many years.

"I telegraphed Hurley to meet me company with Mr. and Mrs. Wil-

FIVE DAYS IN JAIL ON BREAD AND WATER DIET FOR SPEED LAW VIOLATOR

By the Associated Press. DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 14.—FIVE days in jail on bread and water was the sentence passed by Judge Tom L. Sellers here upon W. A. Swab, who had been convicted for the second time within a few days of violating the speed laws.

Judge Sellers yesterday refused Swab's plea that he be permitted to pay a heavy fine instead of going to jail.

$1200 IN DIAMONDS AND $565 CASH STOLEN BY SAFE ROBBER

Loot Obtained From Furniture Co. Strongbox Also Included $200 in Liberty Bonds.

Burglars last night obtained diamonds valued at $1200, $565 in cash, and $200 in Liberty Bonds from the safe of the Henry Walker Furniture Co., 206 North Twelfth boulevard. The robbery was discovered at 11 p. m. when a patrolman who was walking down the alley in the rear of the store found the back door open.

One part of the loot, police believe may lead to discovery of the thieves. A small sack containing 75 nickels of the obsolete issue of 1883 was taken. These nickels can easily be detected because they have not the word "cents" on the back, simply a "V." Storekeepers will be notified to watch for the nickels which were stolen in by the Government a few years ago because of the ease with which they can be converted into five-dollar gold pieces by the addition of a coat of gold.

The burglars in their evident hurry overlooked a role of small bills amounting to $40 which was lying in plain view on a shelf in the safe. Other parts of the safe were ransacked after the combination had been jimmied. The inner door had been jimmied.

One pane of glass in the rear door was broken and, by use of the hole thus made, the lock was easily turned.

The diamonds and jewelry belonged to the firm and to William B. Mollet, manager. Police have found a witness who saw a man leaving the alley at the supposed time of the robbery. He appeared to be about 50 years old, wore a long raincoat and was carrying a bundle.

Williams, relatives of Mrs. Mortimer, in their automobile and the way to their home for lunch. Accompanying Mortimer in his automobile Forbes said, were a Mr. McCauley and a family from Minneapolis. He declared that every present in the house did hear everything that was said.

Asked about the "coolness" which Mortimer said had arisen between them, Forbes said he had had difficulties with Mortimer on the Western trip.

Admitted Mortimer about his conduct," the witness continued adding that Mortimer frequently got drunk while out with men he met in the city.

The former director also denied the testimony of J. M. Williams of Philadelphia that Forbes had proposed to him the removal of liquors and narcotics from Perryville, and that he had followed Forbes into the kitchen to make such a proposal. Forbes said: "Was I ever in his kitchen in my life?" He added that Williams remained in the living room throughout the evening.

John F. O'Ryan, general counsel for the committee, then took up the cross-examination.

"Who is in the conspiracy to destroy you that you have charged?" he asked. "Williams and Mortimer were two of the conspirators. There were other forces. By the perjury they used to in my opening statement, I meant the testimony of Williams and Mortimer. By subordination of perjury I meant the way in which Williams was induced to testify falsely. By a suggestion of deuce, I meant the documents which were furnished by my counsel yesterday and which proved my innocence."

Forbes then charged that Mortimer had been "brow-beaten" into testifying as he did. "Is that more than suspicion on your part?" asked O'Ryan. "It is," responded Forbes. "My counsel has the letter in evidence here the initials of Sweet."

Explains 'Jumping Into Lake.' "Now what about Mortimer's story about you and a lady friend jumping into the lake at Hayden Lake?" "How does he know? he wasn't there," Forbes answered.

Then he explained that he and some friends went on a fishing trip in the afternoon and that there was suggestion that the party go bathing. Forbes said all were roughly dressed and that he jumped into the water, which was about three feet deep.

BOARDING HOUSE PERMANENTLY ENJOINED

Vandeventer Place Residents Win in Suit Against Business at No. 36.

Vandeventer place is staunch with its walls. The dignity of houses and street has long been for safekeeping. The cobblestones of Vandeventer avenue run by at one end and the clangor of Grand boulevard beats against the eastern gate. A street made ugly by trolley wires and tracks in on the southern side and to the north is a negro neighborhood. Vandeventer place must be strong in its own right, or else give way to time and change.

Yesterday residents of the broad street were in court for the fourth time in late years to say that Vandeventer place should not be invaded by commercial establishments. Once before it was a boarding house that wanted to come in, then a private hospital for incurables, and now an other boarding house.

Today Circuit Judge Hartmann issued a permanent injunction against the use of No. 36 Vandeventer place as a boarding house. He dissolved a temporary restraining order issued last August, as the boarding house keeper no longer holds possession.

Even Caretaker Horrified. No one watched this last intrusion with greater horror than did Caretaker Fisher. He spoke in testimony yesterday as a man who has seen a sacrifice. Night on 30 years or thereabouts—he couldn't say exactly—Caretaker Fisher had "kept up" old No. 36. It was the late Ambassador Richard C. Kerens' mansion and stood grandly in the days when Vandeventer place was in its richest glory.

Then this Branham fellow bought it—Caretaker Fisher showed him through—and told of his plans as he inspected its 26 rooms. It would make a dandy boarding house, he had said—here the witness' voice faltered—and then the new owner had remarked that the bathroom would be used as a dormitory for students. It was convenient to the chiropractic colleges nearby.

They Let It Go to Ruin, Sir. "They didn't keep the place up after the boarders came," Caretaker Fisher testified. "It was a shame, sir, that it was. They weren't careful about putting all the ashes and dirt and ashes and bricks and things. The grass was always in such a state. It was never like that when I was with the Kerens estate, sir."

It was plain he thought old No. 36 had come to a sad pass—indeed it had, sir. Nor were the families who live up and down the street less shocked. One by one, Mrs. Grace Wilson, Clark, Thomas K. Niedringhaus, W. Perry, Mrs. Lucy Bent McKinley, Thomas M. Pierce, Mrs. Harvey G. Mudd and J. Laurence Mauran testified that restrictions on the place forbid boarding houses.

"Quiet as a Cemetery." Time did not change Vandeventer place, they asserted loyally. Mrs. Niedringhaus vowed the street was beautiful, and in summer time she actually believed it was 10 degrees cooler in Vandeventer place than anywhere else in St. Louis. Perry gave it as his opinion that Vandeventer place was not noisy and that sometimes it was as "quiet as a cemetery." Mrs. Mudd and Mrs. Brent declared they were the place than anywhere else in St. Louis.

Others spoke of unwelcome sights during the invasion of the boarding house. Unkempt roomers, a general untidiness about the place, clothes on unscrupulous lines. There was complaint of a photograph that ran nearly all night.

The suit was of the Vandeventer Parks Association to enjoin Adolphus Branham, owner of the house at number 36, from using it for commercial purposes. He rented it last June to Mrs. M. C. Campbell for $200 a month, but the Campbells vacated under a temporary restraining order Aug. 6.

Mrs. Marion C. Campbell testified that she could not see why people should object "to a decent boarding house." Her husband and Max Ruler, counsel for Branham, were the only other witnesses for the defense. They spoke chiefly under cross-examination to alleged attempts on the part of Branham to organize a rival association among Vandeventer place residents. They denied such an attempt.

Quizzed of Camp Kearney. Asked about the leasing of Camp Kearney, Cal., as a hospital from a Mr. Mack, Forbes said: "Mr. Mack came to see me when he was the general counsel (the late Charles F. Cramer) with a view to a continuance of this lease for one year. Mack said he was in financial difficulties and it would be impossible for him to continue. He could meet his obligations with the bank. As I recall it, he owed the bank some $35,000, he said."

Forbes said that he told the financial officers of the Bureau that if the Medical Division wanted Camp Kearney for another year, and if it was legally right and the Comptroller General would approve, it would be "all right to go ahead and make the lease."

Chairman Reed said his impression was that the hospital was rented for a year and 15 days and that a rental of $35,000 was paid for 15 days. "I don't know for the year," he wouldn't be surprised if that is correct," said Forbes.

"He wanted to run the Veterans' Bureau and all of its activities. He interfered with every department of the bureau; he sent for employes

"BALD SPOT INSTEAD OF WAVE;" SEEKS $7500

Mrs. Josie Gehbelin, in Suit Against Beauty Shop, Alleges Injury to Scalp.

Mrs. Josie Gehbelin of Webster Groves wanted a permanent wave. She says she got a permanent bald spot. So now she is suing Mrs. Ritta B. Lunt, beauty shop owner, for $7500 damages.

Mrs. Gehbelin, who is the wife of Walter E. Gehbelin, business agent of the Carpenters' Union, went to Mrs. Lunt, who has a beauty shop in the Arcade Building, and Mrs. Lunt told her she could have a wave for $18.

On Aug. 31, she says, she went to the shop and the curling plates were applied and the left side of her scalp was burned. She had to pay a doctor $50 for treatment, but in spite of all that he could do, her hair fell out and the bald spot, two inches in diameter, resulted.

Mrs. Lunt, who lives at 5066 Delmar boulevard, was surprised when she learned this morning that suit had been brought against her. She had no recollection of Mrs. Gehbelin's case. So many women were getting permanent waves that she could not remember their names. Maybe if she saw her she would remember her.

"I cannot think," she said, "that Mrs. Gehbelin's scalp was injured. I do this work myself, not intrusting it to assistants. I have never had a complaint. If that woman had come to me and I had found that any injury had been done, I would have rectified it. But I am confident that no injury was done."

screamed when the negro seized her, and that she then shot her. Clarence Vocker followed his wife on the stand, and told of hearing the shot fired, and of seeing a man running east. He could not see the man clearly enough to describe him in any particular.

Five other witnesses, one of them an 11-year-old boy, told of various occurrences near the scene of the killing. One negro witness said he heard Level say his girl had been shot, but did not hear him say anything to indicate that a negro did the shooting. A man who was a passenger on a Manchester car told him that he in no way answered the car for help, and said Level first spoke of the girl as his wife, but that he later changed this part of his statement.

The last witness called, Carl Elgers, a negro, living near Seventeenth and Gratiot streets, formerly roomed with the negro known as "Beans," who is being sought by the police in connection with the case. He testified that "Beans" played pool in a poolroom at Seventeenth and Gratiot the afternoon of the shooting, and went out about 5 o'clock, and that he did not see him since. Elgers remained in the poolroom that night, he said, and he denied the story which other negroes have told police, that "Beans" came into the poolroom about 10 p. m., sold his overcoat for 25 cents, put overalls on his clothes, and disappeared into the railroad yards.

Description of "Beans." Deputy Coroner Dyer drew from the witness a description of "Beans," as being six feet, two inches tall, of dark-brown skin, wearing a dark suit and light hat. This tallies with the description of the assailant, as furnished by Level, except the latter said the negro wore a cap.

Level's Story of Murder Unshaken by Severe Tests. A frightened negro was ushered into the detectives' assembly room at Police Headquarters yesterday. He was followed a moment later by Level, who was flanked on either side by broad-shouldered detectives.

The youth was told to take a seat and keep his mouth closed until he was spoken to. "Walk up and down," said a detective, addressing the trembling negro. "Turn around. Put on your hat. Take it off. Now, run up to that wall."

There was nothing for the negro to do but obey, and he shuffled through the program like a trained performer, nonchalantly. The youth looked on wearily. He was 22, sleepless hours in a dirty cell. "Take him back to the holdover," a detective ordered, referring to the negro, and the latter was led away. "Is that the negro that shot Miss Bowers?" Level was asked by a member of the homicide squad, as a group of detectives gathered about the exhausted prisoner.

"Doen't look anything like him," Level mumbled.

Had Good Look at Negro. "The negro you described wore a tigh-colored cap," said the detective. "Suppose we put a cap like that on this negro's head." "You wouldn't bother to do that, said Level as he plowed his face in his hands to ward off sleep. "I

CALIFORNIA LABOR LAW DECLARED TO BE VOID

Statute Forbade Employers From Exactng Pledges From Employes Not to Join Unions.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—The California law forbidding employers from exacting pledges from employees not to join labor unions was held void in a decision handed down by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday.

The decision affirmed the decision of the United States Court of Los Angeles, which enjoined labor unions from organizing the non-union workers of the Pacific Electric Railway Co. in Los Angeles. The injunction was made permanent against the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"Activities without lawful excuse," engaged in by the unions, the court found were: unionizing the employees of the railway company and drawing them into a controversy in which they had no substantial cause for complaint; calling strikes after organizing 1200 of the 1500 employees; striking when the country was at war in the face of the presidential proclamation that there should be no strikes or lockouts during the war; and striking while the complaints of the employees were being submitted by the railway company to a representative of the United States Department of Labor.

The court held these activities "interrupted the railway company's business in intra-state and inter-state commerce to its irreparable damage."

Bactericides.

ROME, Nov. 14.—Dr. Leon Tomarkin, who claims to have discovered a cure for pneumonia, has his method would have the life of the late Pope Benedict XV. He had been called in when the Pope first became ill. His remedy is a powerful bactericide which, he says, destroys the pneumonia germ and which is called microbium Tomarkin.

The physician is a young Swiss of Russian origin. He has suffered many privations in carrying out research work, for no one would have had the basis of a cure. The remedy is obtained by chemical synthesis and is prepared in form of a mono-basic and bi-basic, an amorphous grayish powder, packed in transparent gelatine capsules. They are easily dissolved in cold water and with difficulty in alcohol.

Dr. Tomarkin claims the remedy reduces the average mortality of pneumonia and bronchial pneumonia, now 35 per cent, to 25 per cent of the present rate.

When he offered to treat the Benedictine official, he was permitted to admit an unknown young physician until the Pontiff's condition came desperate. Then, when all other doctors said a cure was impossible, Tomarkin was called in. "I had been permitted to give antimicrobium in the earlier stages of the Pontiff's illness," Dr. Tomarkin told the Post-Dispatch, "I believe would be alive today."

S. Louis U. Department Head Dr. Ralph L. Thompson, head of the department of bacteriology at the St. Louis University Medical School, said regarding the report of the Tomarkin remedy:

"Chemical bactericides, for cure of pneumonia, tuberculosis, septicemia, have been tried. There have been many reports of newly discovered cures of this nature, but all thus far have failed to work out. The difficulty is that bactericide strong enough to kill bacterial organisms will also age the tissues. It seems impossible to draw the line between bacteria and killing tissue. In parasitic diseases this has been possible, but not in bacterial cases. A remedy of this character should not be tried unless vouched for by some institutional standing."

CLAIMS DISCOVERY OF CURE FOR PNEUMONIA

Young Swiss Doctor's Remedy Consists of Use of Powerful Bactericides.

(Copyright, 1923.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders. You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

MAN BEATEN TO DEATH, WEALTHY FARMER HELD

Killing in Ray County (Mo.) Said to Have Resulted From Affront to Woman.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 14.—Clall Allan, 25 years old, a Ray County farmer, was beaten to death yesterday by Everett Endsley, 55, wealthy farmer living near Orrick, Mo. The tragedy occurred in a road near the Endsley farm.

Roy Tucker, 30, and his wife, Beatrice Tucker, Endsley's daughter, made signed statements last night, according to Eugene Farria, prosecuting attorney of Ray County, in which they said Allen was killed by Endsley, following alleged indignities by Allen toward Mrs. Tucker.

According to the statements, Allen went to the Endsley home to pay for a deed to a cemetery lot in the Southport cemetery, near the Endsley home. Mrs. Tucker is said to have called Endsley and Tucker, who were working in a corn field near the house.

Allen is said to have left while Tucker and Endsley went back to work. Allen, according to the authorities, then drove in his motor car to the cemetery. Shortly afterward Tucker said he saw a man going through an alfalfa field toward the house.

Tucker called Endsley's attention to the man and hurried to the house, where he said he found Allen embracing Mrs. Tucker. Allen was ejected from the house, Tucker said.

Endsley, who was following Tucker, met Allen in the road and is alleged to have struck Allen on the head with a stone.

"I didn't mean to kill him. I only wanted to beat him up," Endsley is said to have told Tucker. Both Tucker and his wife declared they did not witness the tragedy. Endsley, following the killing, went to Richmond, Mo., and surrendered. Tucker also is being held in connection with the killing.

Allen's widow is a daughter of Judge Thomas Carroll of the Western division of the Ray County court.

GREEK KING'S EXILE VIEWED AS INEVITABLE

London Regards Republican Sentiment Too Strong Against Monarch.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Well-informed diplomatic circles here regard the exile of King George of Greece as inevitable. Republican sentiment in Athens is said to be too strong to respond to telegraphic pleas from former Premier Venizelos that retention of the monarch might make for better Anglo-Greek relations.

The British are not inclined to go further than these platonic representations, so the fall of the dynasty is expected at any moment.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 14.—The British Government has instructed its "Charge d'Affaires in Athens to inform the Greek Government that while it has not altered its opinion with regard to the evil effects of the return to Greece of the late King Constantine, it does not entertain a like view concerning the present King who it believes capable, with proper support, of re-establishing Greece in the good opinion of the allies.

Although the British Government has not the slightest desire to interfere in the internal affairs of Greece, officials here declare that royal detronements, revolutions and political feuds are not calculated to win back allied support to that unhappy country. Greece, they say, is one nation that Premier Baldwin had specifically in mind when in his Guildhall speech, he said:

"These states must work out their own destiny. They are all or nearly all impoverished by war and they will need financial aid for their rehabilitation. But when their agents come knocking at the door in London, or wherever it may be, the first question that will be asked and the first guarantee that will be required will be that of internal order and security."

Texas Farmer Shot to Death.
By the Associated Press.
WACO, Tex., Nov. 14.—Walter Pinkert, 30 years old, a farmer, living near Westphalia, was shot and killed last night; Andrew Bibner, 52, his brother-in-law, wounded in the hip by his own gun, is in jail at Martin, charged with murder, and Herman Robarker, 22, was hit by a stray bullet, which inflicted a flesh wound. According to a statement by Bibner the men quarreled over the division of property of the mother-in-law of the two men.

MOVE TO PROHIBIT NEW YORK SUNDAY BASEBALL AND SHOWS

Lord's Day Alliance Hears of Plan to Carry Fight to Legislature.

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—An attempt to repeal laws making possible Sunday baseball and the exhibition of motion pictures on Sunday will be made at the next session of the Legislature, the national convention of the Lord's Day Alliance was told by Dr. Frank J. Miles of Syracuse.

"We have no objection as to how a man spends Sunday," he said, "but we object to commercialized amusements, because they require other people to work a seven-day week."

The Rev. John Ferguson, general secretary for New York State, told of a recent survey which disclosed that church attendance was being cut in half in competition with Sunday motion pictures. A survey of 513 churches, he said, showed a total Sunday morning service attendance of 27,725, an average of 48 at each church, while two moving-picture houses in an upstate city on a single Sunday evening had a total paid attendance of 14,168.

"In the city of Washington," he added, "a check of 40 churches showed less than 7000 at worship, while in 40 theaters more than 50,000 persons were being amused."

In Pennsylvania, he said, where numerous laws proposing a commercialized Sunday have been defeated, Bible class attendance is one in four, as against one in 21 in New York.

ADVERTISING LIKE LOCOMOTIVE

Wrigley Thus Explains Great Expansion of Chewing-Gum Business. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—William Wrigley Jr., in explaining the big expansion of his chewing gum company, said it was due to advertising. In a trip West recently in company with a friend, the latter said: "You have built up a remarkable business. Why not save some of this advertising money and run along on momentum for a while?"

"Well," Wrigley said, "we have had a fine, fast trip west from Chicago so far. How much progress do you think we would make if they took off the locomotive?"

Team of Draft Horses Pulls 40 Tons. NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A test at the National Horse Show yesterday to determine how heavy a load a team of draft horses can pull was won by a team entered by a local manufacturing company, which was able to start a load of 18 tons and to pull one to 40 tons. The tests were recorded on a dynamometer brought from Iowa State University.

NEW CONSTITUTION IN CHINA TO END PROVINCIAL ARMIES

Its Provisions, if They Can Be Enforced, Shears Governors of Power and Establishes National Army.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
PEKIN, Oct. 28.—China's new Constitution, the result of many months of work by a drafting committee, by Parliament and promulgated simultaneously with President Tsao Kun's inauguration, will put an end to the tuchun system of government, if its provisions can be enforced.

The Constitution abolishes provincial armies, thus shearing the tuchun or Military Governor of his power and establishes instead a national army, whose units shall be restricted to "areas of national defense."

That the Constitution is foredoomed to condemnation as an illegal document at the hands of the opponent or Chihli party already is becoming evident in spite of strict censorship, intended to suppress criticism of the acts of the present political leaders. Whatever chance it might have had of meeting with acceptance at the hands of the nation, had it been finished and promulgated under the administration of Li Yuan-Hung, is seemingly lost through its having been sponsored by Marshal Tsao.

Synopsis of Document.
The document contains 13 sections subdivided into 241 articles. The sections deal with the following subjects:

Form of Government; the President; the Cabinet; the judiciary; the laws; the budget; local government; amendments; explanations and power of the Constitution.

Article 1 of the first section sounds ironical in the light of present conditions. It provides that the republic of China shall be "a unified republic forever." Article 2 declares that the sovereignty is vested in the whole body of the people. "Citizens are granted freedom of assembly, speech, authorship and publication and of religious belief, on which no restriction shall be imposed except in accordance with the law."

In the event of arrest citizens may "apply to the judicial court for presentation to the court for trial;" they are exempted from entry and search and their correspondence shall not be violated unlawfully.

Election of President.
Election of the President is by an electoral college, composed of the whole membership of the two houses of Parliament.

The President is to be elected for five years and may be re-elected. The vice president is to be elected in the same manner and at the same time.

The Senate must approve the appointment of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

The provinces may enact laws for their own government through the provincial assemblies, elected by direct vote.

COUNTY ELECTION OFFICIAL FREED ON COURT'S ORDER

Evidence in Case of C. A. Henry Insufficient, Court Says in Its Instructions.

C. A. Henry, Democratic election judge of the Darby Hill Precinct of St. Louis County, who was indicted for perjury following a grand jury investigation of the mutilation and destruction of ballots in the primary election of August, 1922, was acquitted by a jury in Judge Wurde-man's court yesterday on peremptory instructions from the Court to acquit, on the ground of insufficient evidence.

It was the third trial of indictments growing out of that election. Joseph F. Judge, a brother-in-law of the gambler, Tony Foley, was fined $1000 and sentenced to one year in jail last June for illegal voting, and Julius Schoenbein, former Constable of Central Township, was acquitted of a charge of interfering with the election.

It was not shown that Henry had any connection with or knowledge of mutilated ballots found in a cesspool in the rear of Darby Hill Precinct.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars your face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

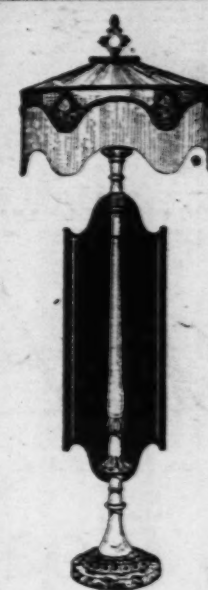

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

PAYROLL ROBBERS GET $1196 AT LAUNDRY

Youthful Holdup Men Use Cadillac Auto in Raid at 2139 Clark Avenue.

Miss Lillian Boxer, employed in the office of the Peerless Laundry Co., at 2139 Clark avenue, glanced out of the window there at 3:40 p. m. yesterday and saw three of four youths who had driven up across the street in a Cadillac touring car, get quickly out of the machine and stride toward the laundry.

"It was pay day. I wonder if we're going to get held up," said Miss Boxer to Miss Goldie Greenspan, a fellow employee.

"Miss Greenspan didn't answer, but the three youths did—by stepping inside, displaying revolvers and commanding, 'Hands up, everybody.'"

"The two girls and Robert Beckley, the cashier, were then herded into a rear room in which was the office safe, and the red-faced leader of the robbers ordered Beckley to 'hand over that money.'"

"What money?" said the cashier, staring for time.

"The payroll—the payroll," growled the red-faced one with a menacing swing of his revolver. And Beckley got the payroll from the safe—or at least $1086 of it. The rest, $194, had already been paid out.

Meanwhile, one of the robbers had taken $119 from the cash register in the office. With a warning to the laundry employees to give no alarm, the holdup men then ran outside, leaped into the waiting automobile and went east on Clark avenue.

The money taken was part of the laundry's $3000 payroll drawn yesterday from the Savings Trust Co., 4815 Delmar boulevard.

Laundry's Second Payroll Robbery.

On July 31 last a $1160 payroll of the laundry was among the loot obtained when three robbers held up a negro messenger of the trust company and took $1236 in cash and $1032 in Liberty Bonds after disarming the messenger. The robbery occurred at Twentieth and Eugenia streets, three blocks from the laundry, and the messenger ran to the laundry office to telephone police. He described his assailants as of three generations—the leader elderly, the second man about 30 years old, and the third about 19. The robbers yesterday were all about 24. A Marmon car was used in the July holdup. It, as is the Cadillac used yesterday, was believed to have been stolen.

NO TRUE BILL AGAINST DOCTOR

Clarence E. Walker Had Been Held for Death of Negro.

A "no-true bill" was returned by the grand jury yesterday in the case of Dr. Clarence E. Walker, 416 Kansas street, who had been held by the coroner for the death of Sarah Craig, a negro, 35 years old, of 4443 Cote Boulevard, from the effects of a brilliant, alleged, of an illegal operation.

ITCHY RASH ON SON'S FACE

Became Inflamed and Sore. Cuticura Healed.

My small son had a rash break out on his face. At first I paid no attention to it, but the trouble kept getting worse, became inflamed and sore, and he was very fretful. The breaking out itched and burned causing him to be very restless, and he kept me awake nights.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after the first few applications I could see an improvement. I purchased more and in five weeks he was healed."

Marjorie Rambeau Gets Divorce.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Marjorie Rambeau, actress, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce yesterday from Hugh Dillman McCaughy in the Superior Court here. The property settlement, said by friends of Miss Rambeau to have been for $50,000, in her favor, was made out of court. Miss Rambeau charged desertion in her complaint. The suit was uncontested by McCaughy.

FRANCE MAY ENTER NEXT PULITZER RACE

Question of Italian Participation to Be Laid Before Mussolini by St. Louisan.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—There is every chance of France being represented at next year's Pulitzer Trophy race, George S. Johns of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reports. He left Paris tonight for Rome, where he will put the question of Italian participation up to Premier Mussolini.

With both these Governments it is principally a matter of finance. There would be little difficulty in obtaining European participation if the expenses were paid by the United States or if the Governments concerned subsidized entries or if a wealthy man came forward with a patriotic offer of assistance.

Belgium has neither the machines nor the money and there is small chance of her competing either for the Pulitzer Trophy, the Schneider Cup or the Curtis marine trophy.

Johns, however, succeeded in arousing French interest keenly, as the press campaign denotes, and he has the promise of Air Minister Eyraud that he will do everything to push matters.

The French are building a special 600-horsepower Nieuport for Safti Leconte which, they say, will hold its own with the swiftest American planes. They want American fliers to enter the Deamont speed race here in June before they cross the Atlantic in October.

The English, owing to squabbling between naval, military and civil branches of aviation, may not be in a position to enter. They will be governed largely by the French decision, as they do not intend to let France get ahead any more in the air.

There is a better chance of interesting Mussolini, who has a great speed champion in Brakappa, and whose policy is to leave no stone unturned to boost Italy and everything Italian in foreign countries.

MAN SHOT BY STRANGER AT 18TH AND MORGAN

Bartender In Saloon There Arrested After He Tries to Conceal Wounded Man.

The shot which Patrolman Lehn heard at 1:40 o'clock this morning sounded as if it came from somewhere around Eighteenth and Morgan streets. He went down that way. There is a saloon at the corner and John Brennan, the bartender, was standing at the door.

"Hear a shot?" asked the policeman. "Sounded like one," said Brennan. "Must be an automobile backfire." "Reckon it was," said the policeman, as he started away.

Just then the Fourth District patrol wagon came clanging to a stop. "What's up?" asked Lehn, and he was told that somebody had telephoned that a man had been shot in the saloon.

Inside Roger Vogel, 34 years old, of 1019 Market street, a former bartender at the place, was found with a bullet in his left breast below the heart.

"Why didn't you tell me you had a wounded man in here?" asked Lehn of Brennan. "I didn't want to hurt the place," said Brennan. He didn't know anything about Vogel except that he staggered in there and said he had been shot.

Vogel said he was walking south in Eighteenth street between Carr and Wash streets and a man had never seen before shot him without provocation.

The saloon was searched. No weapon was found, but in the safe was a pint of something which the police concluded was whiskey. So Brennan was arrested.

The police think it strange that the bullet passed through Vogel's vest and shirt and underwear, but not through his coat.

GIRL PRISONERS ATTACK MATRON

Other Officers Prevent Attempted Escape Through Window.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Led by Anna Barunski, 15 years old, arrested last week as a member of a holdup band, 25 girls attacked a matron at the juvenile detention home last night in an unsuccessful effort to leap through a window after overpowering the matron, but were prevented by Dr. Angus Frew, superintendent, and other officers.

When arrested the Barunski girl told officers her father chained her to a bed in her room at home to keep her in at nights.

Clarence Kramer's sudden desire for a cigarette last night saved the family jewelry from a burglar who was ransacking the home at 2526 Evans avenue. Kramer was in the kitchen talking to his sister, Lulu, shortly after 9 o'clock. He told his sister he was going to get a smoke and went to another part of the house. As he entered a bedroom the burglar, busy at a dresser, fled through a window and escaped. Kramer said some minor jewelry valued at $100 had been taken.

How To Keep A Child Healthy

A GENERATION ago parents thought that a sickness was a part of a child's life, but we know better now. The secret is in the food the mother allows the child to eat, and in watching that elimination occurs regularly two or three times a day.

Mrs. J. Russell of 19,141 Havana Ave., Detroit, Mich., keeps her family of two young children in perfect health with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and Mrs. R. L. Smith of 519 Maple Ave., East Pittsburg, Pa., says her family of three children have never been sick a day since giving them Syrup Pepsin.

A Substitute for Physics

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientific compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and suitable aromatics. The formula is on every package. You will find you do not have to force children to take it, and it is much better for them than castor oil, calomel or coal-tar drugs like phenolphthalein even if covered with sugar or chocolate.

Syrup Pepsin is mild and gentle in action and your child will have an easy passage without griping or strain. It does not contain narcotics, and you can give it with absolute safety to an infant at the breast.

"Magic" in a Teaspoonful

Every store that sells medicines sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give half a teaspoonful to any ailing baby or child at bedtime when you put it to bed and you will find a happy, laughing youngster in the morning. Take Syrup Pepsin yourself when constipated, and give it to any member of the family young or old, for any ailment due to constipation, such as biliousness, headache, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, bad breath, cankers, fever sores, indigestion, and to break up fevers and colds. Stop that first sneeze or sniffle and you will have a healthy winter.

PART TWO

DIVIDED ON PLAN

Some Opposition to Mayor's Proposal That Issue 1924 Be Increased $10,000,000.

Increase Probably Won't Come as Result of High Tax Rate, Assert Realty Agents.

Opinion in the Citizens' Supervisory Committee, appointed to guard expenditure of the $87,000,000 bond issue for public improvement, appears to be divided on Mayor Kiel's proposal that the issue next year be increased to $10,000,000, doubling the $5,000,000 proposed for 1924 in the taxation arguments of the pre-bond election campaign.

Five of the 17 members advocate speeding up the program by doubling the 1924 issue, while seven say the city should adhere to the election plan, which was submitted to the voters, with the argument it would equitably distribute the over a long period of years.

The Mayor's proposal, approved in the Board of Estimate and Apportionment by Mayor Kiel and President Nader of the Board of Aldermen, against the opposition of Controller Nolte, is being drafted into amendment to the bond sale ordinance. The amendment is to be presented to the Supervisory Committee for approval, then will go to the Board of Aldermen.

Increased Rentals Seen. Definite figures on the tax increase that would result from a $10,000,000 bond issue next year have been prepared in the Comptroller's office, but it was estimated such issue would result in a tax rate of 10 cents on the $100 assessed value for new bond retirement purposes next year. The rate this year for bonds is 2 cents, and $2,500,000 bonds have been sold this far.

Two real estate dealers, members of the Supervisory Committee, who oppose an increase, today said a sharp increase in the tax probably would result in increased rentals.

Taxation arguments for the $10,000,000 bond issue were based on a 10-year schedule of bond issues, fixed amounts for each year, schedule proposed $5,000,000 in 1924, $10,000,000 in 1925, $15,000,000 in 1926, $20,000,000 in 1927, $25,000,000 in 1928, $30,000,000 in 1929, $35,000,000 in 1930, $40,000,000 in 1931, $45,000,000 in 1932, $50,000,000 in 1933, $55,000,000 in 1934, ## BOND COMMITTEE DIVIDED ON PLAN TO SPEED UP WORK

Some Opposition to Mayor's Proposal That Issue for 1924 Be Increased to $10,000,000.

MAY BOOST RENTALS,

Increase Probably Would Come as Result of Higher Tax Rate, Assert Property Agents.

Opinion in the Citizens' Supervisory Committee, appointed to safeguard expenditure of the $87,000,000,
bond issue for public improvements,
appears to be divided on Mayor Kiel's proposal that the issue for next year be increased to $10,000,- 000, doubling the $5,000,000 program
proposed for 1924 in the taxation arguments of the pre-bond election campaign.

Five of the 17 members advocate speeding up the program by doubling the 1924 issue, while seven assert
the city should adhere to the pre-bond plan which was submitted to the voters, with the argument that it would equitably distribute the cost
over a long period of years.

The Mayor's proposal, approved by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment by Mayor Kiel and President Nott of the Board of Aldermen, against the opposition of Comptroller Nolte, is being drafted into an amendment to the bond sale arbitration. The amendment is to be presented to the Supervisory Committee for approval, then will go to the Board of Aldermen.

Increased Rentals Seen.
Definite figures on the tax increase that would result from a $10,000,- 000 bond issue next year have not been prepared in the Comptroller's office, but it was estimated such an issue would result in a tax rate of 13
cents on the $100 assessed valuation
for new bond retirement purposes next year. The rate this year for new bonds is 2 cents, and $2,500,000 in bonds have been sold thus far.

Two real estate dealers, members of the Supervisory Committee, and who oppose an increase, today said
a sharp increase in the tax rate probably would result in increased rentals.

Taxation arguments for the $87,-
000,000 bond issue were based on a 10-year schedule of bond issues, with three amounts for each year. This schedule proposed $5,000,000 in bond sales for 1924. The plan was to forth in detail in literature on the bond campaign Committee of the General Council on Civic Needs, and by campaign speakers.

Commitment to these campaign
pledges on taxation was a part of
the platform adopted last spring by
the Republican candidates for president of the Board of Aldermen and 14 Aldermanic seats, all later elected.
This has done, the platform stated,
with the view of keeping faith with
the taxpayers and the campaign
pledges made at that respect, and to
the end that taxation shall not be unreasonably increased. The platform
was forth in detail the amounts
to be sold annually under the proposed plan.

W. Frank Carter, chairman of the committee, today declared he was
opposed to any increase in the amount of the bond issue for 1924.
"The committee is asking city
officials to stand by their pledges
in carrying out the bond issue program," he said, "and we must stand
by the campaign pledges. I am opposed to any increase."

O. J. McCawley, president of the Real Estate Exchange and member
of the committee, today stated that
the pledge to the people was that
not more than $5,000,000 in bonds
would be sold next year, and that he
was opposed to doubling the amount
unless convinced that an emergency
existed, or that the work could be
done so economically that the city
would be greatly benefited. "In effect the doubling would be breaking
the pledge," he said.

Gorham's View.
"Doubling the 1924 issue would spread the equitable plan proposed for distributing the cost over a long
period of years," said Frank Gorham, another member of the committee. "The promise was made that
taxation would be based on the plan
submitted. If the increase is made
in 1924 there would be no bar to doing it in 1925 and in other years,
thus destroying the equitable scheme

Political Gossip of Washington

McAdoo's Campaign Running Along Smoothly
Until Klan Gives Him Something to Worry About
—Coolidge to Show Self to People

By CHARLES MICHELSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—
OSCAR UNDERWOOD could afford to endow a pension foundation for Gobiins, Wizards and Kleagles in return for the service rendered by the Ku Klux just when he needed it most.

William Gibbs McAdoo's campaign was running fine. His boosters, entirely without authority, of course,
in politics, a candidate must never let his right hand know what his left is doing, had inaugurated a flirtation with the Copeland inner circle for a McAdoo-Copeland ticket.
Naturally the meteoric New York Senator knew no more about it than did the ex-Secretary of the Treasury, but the invincibility of a ticket
made up of a western dry and an eastern damp was dwelt on. It is curious, the unanimity with which the Democratic presidential aspirants seek to pin a vice presidential nomination on Senator Copeland.

Along Comes the Klan.
HOWEVER, he was getting along,
with a look-in on Pennsylvania,
where the passion for Al Smith has spent itself, and in Massachusetts,
and then along comes the Ku Klux
with its denunciation of Senator Underwood as the "Jew, Jug and Jesuit candidate," reminiscent of the
"Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" slogan of a past generation, and its seeming endorsement, by elimination,
of McAdoo.

New York, with the biggest Hebrew population in the country, wet
from Buffalo to Montauk Point, and with the Irish and Italian influence in Tammany Hall, hardly will ignore the challenge. Massachusetts, and New Jersey will not be far behind. Indeed, the Klan announcement may even cost McAdoo something in Maryland, Texas and Louisiana, three Southern States where he hopes were high.

Of course, McAdoo is no more in favor of the Klan than he is of the Red Internationale, but the effort already is under way on the Republican side to paste a Klan label on him. It is assumed around the Republican National Committee
has obtained, and is cherishing
against the time when they think it will be useful, a letter of congratula-tion written by McAdoo to Mayfield on the latter's election to the Senate
from Texas.

Commitment to these campaign
pledges on taxation was a part of
the platform adopted last spring by
the Republican candidates for president of the Board of Aldermen and 14 Aldermanic seats, all later elected.
This has done, the platform stated,
with the view of keeping faith with
the taxpayers and the campaign
pledges made at that respect, and to
the end that taxation shall not be
unreasonably increased. The platform
was forth in detail the amounts
to be sold annually under the proposed plan.

W. Frank Carter, chairman of the
opposed to any increase in the
amount of the bond issue for 1924.
"The committee is asking city
officials to stand by their pledges
in carrying out the bond issue program," he said, "and we must stand
by the campaign pledges. I am opposed to any increase."

O. J. McCawley, president of the Real Estate Exchange and member
of the committee, today stated that
would be sold next year, and that he
was opposed to doubling the amount
unless convinced that an emergency
existed, or that the work could be
done so economically that the city
would be greatly benefited. "In effect the doubling would be breaking
the pledge," he said.

Gorham's View.
"Doubling the 1924 issue would
spread the equitable plan proposed for
distributing the cost over a long
period of years," said Frank Gor-
ham, another member of the committee. "The promise was made that
taxation would be based on the plan
submitted. If the increase is made
in 1924 there would be no bar to do-
ing it in 1925 and in other years,
thus destroying the equitable scheme
described by the actuary."

Similar views that the program should be adhered to, unless it is shown that some emergency or demand for quick action exists, were expressed by P. J. Morris, Arthur Hatch, E. W. Six and F. W. A. Ver-er, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Further inquiries of committee
members by a Post-Dispatch reporter developed that five members favored doubling the program, in or-

the time the conventions are on.

It is unfortunate the two parties
cannot have diplomatic conferences
and that sort of thing, for actually both sides would like to keep the Klan issue out of politics. Neither knows how the thing is going to cut,
and both have the notion it could be ignored it would run its course
and disappear in a year or two, but,
as things are shaping themselves,
the Republicans probably will have an antikan plan in their platform
—to the distress of Republican candidates in Indiana, Oregon and various other Northern states—and if the Democrats do not follow suit the Republicans will make the most of it.
Life would be much easier for candidates if they did not have to discuss themselves. McAdoo, for example, though he has not the slightest taint of intolerance in his system, may be compelled to declare war on a group that could not have the least effect on his conduct, public or private, in order to divorce himself from the sentiment implemented by the Klan assault on Underwood and Smith, and so risk the loss of delegates he needs and to which he is entitled by every tenet of politics.

There was small chance of Underwood getting the New York delegation after Smith dropped out, but the latest development makes it possible and thereby makes the Alabama Senator more formidable than ever.

His appeal to the South to rebel against the superstition that a Southern man is debarrd from aspiring to the presidency has been very effective, and the Underwood
delegations will be pretty stubborn
when the deadlock now in view eventuates.

The moot question of whether the Klan is a power or only a boyerman
in politics will be demonstrated pretty well by the result next year
in Massachusetts and Montana,
where David L. Walsh and Thomas J. Walsh, both Catholics, both immensely popular and both powers in the State, come up for re-election.
Ku Klux movements have been starting against the two. They frequently have owed their majorities to Republican votes; obviously, it could not be otherwise in Massachusetts,
which gives a measure of their strength in their respective States.
In the North the Ku Klux is mainly Republican, so that may have an illuminating bearing on what happens in 1924.

Awaiting Coolidge Message.
THERE is a sort of political moratorium on, awaiting President Coolidge's message to Congress. Mc-Adoo, for example, will not announce the deep secret of his candidacy until after the President has said something to shoot at.
The same is probable of Hiram Johnson, though he may be kicked into the field earlier.

The Senate has about concluded that there is nothing to be done in the way of presidential insistence on the World Court, though the churches and the various organizations devoted to world peace are making a campaign for it that may compel revival of the crusading spirit in the White House, even though it will give Hiram Johnson the issue he craves. The World Court is a better slogan for an isolationist than the experts' conference, but either will serve.

The Coolidge boomers are beginning to feel the pressure for some sort of action by the President. The impression that he will let the World Court slide and the abyss of diplomatic fog into which Secretary Hughes' experts' conference fell from the height of enthusiasm, today
marked its launching, with its promise that, at last, a start was being made to settle the European chaos with its concomitant of depression for the American farmers deprived of their foreign markets, have not helped the President. He needed something to lift him out of the shadowy personality that the country had made of him, and while the experts' conference was in session international events may serve to keep the irreconcilables quiet, there is no positive impulse in them to stir up
the enthusiasm that a presidential candidate requires at a time when the surge of the country is the wrong way.

And Melquiades Alvarez, respectively.

Their removal was effected by
Gen. Primo-Rivera, president of the Cortes, on receipt of a communication from the presidents in which they asserted that according to the constitution of Spain the Cortes must be convoked within 30 days after the dissolution of an old Parliament.

Gen. Primo-Rivera, in reply, issued a statement denying this and asserting that the last Cortes, as well as all other Parliaments, did not represent the will of the people.
He accused Parliament of "not having balanced a budget within the last three years. He said no attempt had been made to ascertain what caused the Spanish debacle in Morocco in 1921, thus delaying constructive measures for the good of
the nation.

The military dictatorship is not thinking of elections for some time to come, said the statement, and will prevent further infractions of the law until the chambers can truly represent the opinion of the country.

'SNAP' ELECTION CHARGE IS MADE AGAINST BALDWIN

Liberal and Labor Leaders in

Holds Tariff Plans Up to

IMMEDIATE TEST OF LIBERAL POPULARITY

Party Reunited Under As-

Expected to Show Gains at the Polls.

(Overnight, 1923, by the Press and Post-Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Liberal reunion foreshadowed by David Lloyd George's statement that he would serve under former Premier Asquith began today when the two former Prime Ministers met and composed their differences.

The reunited party will have an immediate test of its popularity for when the House of Commons convenes today after its summer recess,
Premier Baldwin announced that Parliament would be dissolved Friday and a new election held Dec. 6.

After Lloyd George and Asquith held their conference a joint statement was issued from the reunited Liberal headquarters that "a joint and united campaign" would be waged.

The snap election will be held solely on the question of a protective tariff.
Baldwin desires it as a solution of the unemployment problem, but he was bound by the late Premier Bonar Law to come up for re-election.
Ku Klux movements have been start-

Morocco in 1921, thus delaying constructive measures for the good of
the nation.

try.

GOV. HYDE DECIDES NOT TO CALL EXTRA SESSION ON ROADS

"It Would Be Intolerable if Legislature Would Divide Votes Between Multiplicity of Plans."

CRITICISES MEMBERS OF COMMITTEES

Executive Asserts Legislators
With Whom He Conferred Could Not Agree on Anything Definite.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 14.—
Gov. Hyde today said he would not call a special session of the Legislature to provide money for speeding up road construction. In a statement he said:

"I desire to do all that I reasonably can to meet the demand to speed up the road program. It was for this reason that I called the meeting of the Road Committees of the House and Senate to meet at Jefferson City. In my call I stated: 'I have most Missouri take pride in the record of the Highway Commission and desire to speed up the work of completing Missouri's highways as much as possible. With this I am in hearty accord.'"

"I expected, indeed, I had a right to expect, these committees to formulate some definite plan whereby the building of highways could be speeded up. The men called to the meeting constitute the regular Highway committees of the Legislature.
They have studied the highway problems. They are representative of the membership of the Legislature. It is their duty to recommend specific and definite laws to the Legislature. I presume I am entitled to expect that they will do so.
A session of the Legislature costs about $3000 a day. At the expense of a few postage stamps these committees could draft a bill or bills
embodiment their recommendations."

"They are the same identical men
who have this same duty to perform
if the Legislature were in session.
They are not unformed. It is not credible they would shrink from
recommending, even urging, their
own views upon this great question
to their fellows."

"Nevertheless, they could not, or would not, agree upon anything definite. They would draft a bill or bills
embodiment their recommendations."
"They are the same identical men
who have this same duty to perform
if the Legislature were in session.
They are not unformed. It is not
credible they would shrink from
recommending, even urging, their
own views upon this great question
to their fellows."

Suggestions in Resolution.
Their resolution suggests only that if a special session is called they will "meet and consider the advisability" of enacting:
(a) An amendment increasing income fees a reasonable amount.
(b) An amendment authorizing bonds.
(c) A new law to raise to sufficient revenue ($15,000,000 annually) would be required to build the roads without bonds.
This resolution embodies all the divergent views on the road problem which have been presented. It was called upon the basis of that resolution. It would open a vista of endless debate at $3000 per day with no reasonable certainty of constructive legislation.

Emergency Presented.
"The only reason for calling a special session is the emergency presented to provide revenue for 1924 upon which an additional issue of bonds could be lawfully based."

"It should be recognized also that neither law nor tax would meet the emergency unless it is put in effect
by Jan. 1, 1924, so that its revenue would be available for that year. This means that any law to be of service must be passed within an emergency clause which requires the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members."

"The necessity for a definite bill
or bills, embodying a workable constitutional program, upon which
two-thirds of the members can affirmative vote, is therefore apparent. On account of this necessity I called the conference. The conference refused even to try to make any decision. It self, or to recommend any program, bill or bills. I called a special session on the basis of the emergency presented. I cannot submit a multitude of propositions for an extended debate at $3000 per day with no assurance of constructive result."

'World Court Not an Agency to Prevent War, but to Settle Disputes That Might Cause War'

A. Lawrence Lowell Declares Opposition Is Due to Misunderstanding That League Controls Court.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—"The Supreme Court of the United States did not prevent the Civil War and could not have done so; why then should American critics of the World Court expect to stop or outlaw war?"
said A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard, speaking last night at the Congress on America and the Permanent Court of International Justice held by the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches.

"The Supreme Court, however," continued Dr. Lowell, "has settled many questions that might otherwise have led to civil strife, and so will
the Permanent Court of International Justice. People say also that its decisions cannot be enforced, but already they have been, and hereafter will be, accepted by the nations concerned. No decision of a question by arbitration is enforceable,
yet we should deny our principles
if we denied that the awards of international arbitrators have been,
and probably always will be, faithfully carried out."

Court Independent of League.
"I think it no exaggeration to say that criticism of this kind would never be made if it were not for an exaggerated notion in the minds of many of our fellow citizens, the connection of the Court with the League of Nations. But in the first place—except for the method of electing the judges—the Court is independent of the League, which has no control over it or over its members. As these are chosen for nine years it is extremely improbable that a desire to re-election by the League would affect the opinion of the judges. It is to be open to such a motive. The League, indeed, is curiously limited to its choice. The candidates are nominated by the national groups in the Hague Court of Arbitration—a body of distinguished jurists scattered over the world—and only in case a majority in the Council and Assembly fail to agree upon selections from the list of candidates do one outside of that list. Since the United States is already a party to the Court of Arbitration here representatives there can, and this year
actually did, make nominations for the Court of International Justice."
The Court of International Justice is independent of the League and should our country object to taking part in the election of the judges? Because it would virtually make us a member of the League. Obviously, it is not so. By joining in the election of judges we assume no obligations under the covenant; we take no further part in the proceedings of the Council or Assembly. It is a step toward joining the league.
Not unless the American people want to do so, and if they should desire to join the league, it would be unwise for anyone to try to prevent them. But, whatever the advantages of the court, the league
seems to be regarded by some people
as such an evil thing that with it
keep clear of any contact with it;
they cannot touch pitch, they think,
without being defiled. Is that rational? Is it good sense to look upon the league as something to be shunned like the plague?"

"Chief Objection to League."
"The poor League has been treated in a way most extraordinary for clear-sighted Americans. The covenant has been misinterpreted until
many people in the United States
have the most vague and distorted notion of its provisions. The League has been called a superstate, which it never was. The Council with its modest advisory functions, and the Assembly, without the consent of the country with which it is to be made,
and when this treaty came before the Senate an understanding was made that none of the nationals and inhabitants and vessels and boats of any other part of Great Britain should fish contrary to its provisions. The addition of this provision necessitated a ratification of the treaty by the British Government in London instead of by Canada alone,
and hence, for the third time, the United States, in effect, refused to recognize the international character
claimed by the British self-governing Dominions. There is something comical in the spectacle of the Senate, quite unconsciously, upholding
the concentration of authority in the British Empire, and preventing the Dominions from obtaining a universal recognition of such international autonomy as they desire."

Renamed to Service Board.
By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 14.—A.
J. O'Reilly, Republican of St. Louis, was reappointed as a member of the Missouri Public Service Commission
today by Gov. Hyde, for a term expiring April 15, 1925. O'Reilly's first term expired April 15 of this year, but he has been holding over as an acting Commissioner. This commission includes the how public utility companies further increased by $65,000, 000 a year, or shall $5,000,000 within and their families be now paid the just debt owed them by the nation
for five years?"

Mellon's assertion that Congress must choose between the bonus or reduced taxes is called "absurd on the face of it, and on a party with his miscalculations in Government finances for three years." The legislative bodies that the bonus will cost $25,000,000 a year out of the recommended $323,000,000 out.

Sound Measure, Mellon's View.
Secretary Mellon takes the position
that his plan is a logical, business-like, sound economic measure, calculated to have a favorable result on the country's industry and that it is none of its affair if the politicians are worried.

It comes down to these three questions: Will Secretary Mellon be able to kill the bonus by forcing Congress to reduce taxes $223,000,000 annually? Can the Republicans head off the Mellon plan and thus save themselves the embarrassment of choosing between bonus or tax reduction, both intensely popular, especially around election time?

Or will the bonus advocates be able to kill the Mellon plan so as to save themselves?

Denounced by Bonus Adherents.
The bonus adherents, headed by the American Legion, fired their first broadside at the Treasury scheme, violently denouncing it as a trick to rob the veterans of their just rights and to lighten the tax load on the rich. Senators supporting the Mellon plan are preparing attacks. Jones (Dem.), New Mexico, issuing his yesterday, said straddling the policy dilemma by proposing both the bonus and abolishment of some taxes.

Mellon, in conference with Cabinet members, the President and members of Congress, has waved aside their talk of political expediency
with the declaration: "What I am trying to find out is whether you think this is a sound business proposition."

President Coolidge, it was learned today, is sitting on the side lines
waiting for the political outcome.
If the clamor for tax cuts does come irresistible he will throw his weight behind the movement. If the bonus strength (figured at the polls) is too strong he will let Mr.
Mellon continue to carry the responsibility for the tax cut.

American Legion Statement.
The temper of the agitated bonus
backers was made plain in a statement issued by American Legion headquarters here, in the form of a letter to acting Chairman Greene (Republican, Iowa) of the Ways and Means Committee, to whom Mellon's proposal was addressed.

THE CAMEL'S BACK
GOOD FOR ONE ACT

After That New Comedy Presented in New York Bored or Only Mildly Diverting.

By HEYWOOD BROOK.
Dramatic Critic of the New York World.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—"The Camel's Back," a comedy in three acts by Somerset Maugham, staged by Edgar Selwyn, is being presented at the Vanderbilt by the Selwyns. The function of a reviewer, we have been told, is to report simply and definitely whether he liked or disliked the play which he attended. Unfortunately, it is impossible for us to be categorical concerning "The Camel's Back." The first act of the new play by Somerset Maugham amused us more than anything which we have seen this season. The second act bored us profoundly. The third we found mildly diverting.

Whether this "Camel's Back" is a good play or a bad one is a matter of opinion. It is a comedy, and it is good, for a playwright who provides as much entertainment as this is the first act has earned the right to be a little tiresome thereafter.

Prodigious Discrepancy.
The discrepancy between the best and the worst of "The Camel's Back" is so prodigious that one might well be tempted to say that the play is a masterpiece. It is a comedy, and it is good, for a playwright who provides as much entertainment as this is the first act has earned the right to be a little tiresome thereafter.

And why can't play be an hour and a half long? The development of this act would save the world an immense amount of suffering and sorrow. A combined bill, for instance, of half an evening of "A Royal Farthingale" and the other half of "The Camel's Back" would be wholly delightful. Without such a merger both plays dwindle into mere stuff.

Maugham never had very much plot for his new piece. There is a plot incident for an opening act, particularly with the support of the shrewdest, most civilized and witty dialogue of the season. Unfortunately, the supply of dialogue runs dry about the same time the plot wears out. Confronted by such a predicament, Maugham seizes upon old strategies and antics from the attic. A vein of wholly delightful nonsense runs into the play.

The play concerns the taming of a masterful man, Valentine LeFevre, the head of a household, who undertakes to lay down the law to the various members of his family. His wife, Harriet, a woman of wit and ingenuity, decides to have her revenge. With a calculated casualness she invents a love affair for him to fret about.

His confession is so shrewdly contrived that Valentine is utterly taken in. This is the first act, after which it is necessary to think of something else and Maugham provides a quiet, ineffective act which undertakes to make his husband believe that his reason for being is without any sense and the family strategists are not skillfully employed. At the end the play picks up a bit, largely because of a spirited performance by Margaret Moffat.

The most triumphant player of the evening, however, is Violet Kemble Cooper, who nurses the foolery of the play along. There is also good work by Louise Closser Hale, Charles Cherry and Gavin Muir. Indeed, it is a capable company throughout and Edgar Selwyn has staged the play with admirable discretion.

Predicts U. S.-British Alliance to Save Germany as Nation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—An alliance between the United States and Germany to prevent the German nation from being "slowly choked to death" was predicted by Dr. Adolf Lorenz, Austrian surgeon, in an address at the Columbia University Medical College yesterday.

Describing the condition of Germany and Austria as "a state of emergency," Dr. Lorenz declared many of them are working in the mines and ship yards to earn funds in an attempt to continue their studies. Most of these students, he said, did not take part in the war and were merely victims of circumstances. They must be aided, he said, if the intellectual life of Central Europe is to be prevented from decaying beyond hope of recovery.

SAYS WOMAN MOVE IS ENVELOPING WORLD

Mrs. Catt, Addressing Voters' League, Declares Status is Everywhere Enlarged.

Enfranchisement of woman and her elevation to public office are manifested in all parts of the world, and the impetus to the woman movement, which began in the Garden of Eden and has yet a distant goal to reach, is going forward everywhere. This was the message which Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt of New York City, who is president of the American Woman's Suffrage Association, directed passage of the Nineteenth Amendment, brought to the St. Louis League of Women Voters at a tea in the Hotel Statler ballroom yesterday. The occasion was the close of the league's harvest drive for new members. It being announced that 1500 recruits were added.

Mrs. Catt, here primarily to address the League of Women Voters, in session at Hotel Chase, told of a survey she made this summer in all the continental countries of Europe, interviewing women leaders and the heads of government. Everywhere, she said, she found the enlarged status of woman was a permanent condition, even should the countries now democracies revert to monarchies.

Women Voting in Many Countries.
In Asia, Australia and New Zealand women have long had the vote. Mrs. Catt pointed out. North America has full suffrage, and in Mexico there is a woman on the Supreme Court of the Republic. In the British Empire, women are voting in Rhodesia, but suffrage in Africa is complicated by the negro problem. The German Reichstag has 10 women members, the Austrian Parliament 14 and the Prussian Parliament 45.

"Will End With Division of Labor."
"I have had many requests of late to address various groups on the 'Woman's Movement,' declared the speaker. "But not from women's organizations. They seem to have moved on. But the men have been standing anxious hours over the possibilities and probabilities of their movement. They think the woman's movement began and ended when she asked and got the vote. The men, I suspect, and it will only when there is a division of labor, which both sexes fully and mutually agree to."

Exhibit, However, Includes Everything from Orchid to Daisy, and is Valued at $1,000,000.

The chrysanthemum, "the king of flowers," today is king of the annual Flower Show, which opens at 1 p. m. at the First Regiment Armory. A display of 50 rare species is exhibited by Shaw's Garden, and growers from all sections of the country are contending for the prizes, totaling more than $1000.

Chrysanthemums are not all of one color. The show, in the form of a floral garden, includes everything from the orchid to the daisy. The value of the flowers displayed is estimated at $1,000,000.

Children between 10 and 18 years old have entered 50 exhibits to be judged this afternoon. A committee of society women will judge the exhibits. Entries of chrysanthemums in table centerpieces, bridal bouquets, sunroom boxes and basket arrangements. Rare orchids gathered in South America by George H. Pfingst of Shaw's Garden, will be the highlight of this show and also of the chrysanthemum show now on at the Armory.

FATHER GRIFFIN WILL HAVE CONSECRATION IN JOLIET, ILL.

New Head of Alton Diocese Is 40 Years Old and Was Born in Chicago.

The Rev. James A. Griffin, named by Pope Pius XI as Bishop of the Diocese of Alton, will probably have his formal consecration in Joliet, Ill., where he is pastor of St. Mary's (Catholic) Church.

The Alton Diocese is composed of 25 Central Illinois counties, forming a strip of three and four tiers across the State, and including the cities of Alton, Springfield, Decatur, Jacksonville, Taylorville, Mattoon and Effingham.

Father Griffin, who will be fourth Bishop of Alton, is 40 years old, and has lived in Illinois all his life except when he was taking his priestly studies in the North American College at Rome. He was born in Chicago, and was assistant pastor in two Chicago parishes before being made pastor of the Church of the Assumption at Coal City. During the war period he was chairman of the financial department of the Coal City Red Cross, and was a member of the local draft board. He went to the Joliet pastorate in 1921.

Since Bishop James Ryan died, July 2 last, the Alton Diocese has been administered by Archbishop Mundelein of Chicago. Bishop Ryan was head of the Alton Diocese for 25 years.

FUNERAL OF MRS. PAPIN
Widow of Pioneer Realty Dealer to Be Buried Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Mrs. Adelaide L. Papin, 82 years old, who died at St. John's Hospital yesterday, will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow from St. Francis Xavier's Church, Chicago, and Lindell boulevards. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Papin was the widow of Theodore Papin, pioneer St. Louis realty dealer. She lived in St. Louis all her life, being the daughter of Leon Vion, an early settler here. Mrs. Papin's illness resulted from an injury to her hip four years ago, after which she went to live in California. She returned recently to make her home with her son, Joseph Vion Papin, of 5237 Waterman avenue, a department manager for the Federal Reserve Bank. Besides her son, Mrs. Papin is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Joseph P. Haydel, Mrs. William H. Walker, and Mrs. W. S. Lloyd; and nine grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

The suggestion, the inheritance of the navy has on numerous occasions proved its value in situations requiring diplomatic understanding of international law is the education of every naval officer who is of higher grades, and it is an understanding of the situation, but tested at sea. As to obtaining high-grade representation from among the ranks of retired admirals can be no question. As to the practicality involved in such a policy, they are not likely that it could be adopted.

public high school, more than in any other educational institutions, has the American people expressed itself. The establishment of this secondary school as a part of elementary education and its place at public expense constitute one of the cultural achievements. Through it the use of higher education are theoretically the masses and through it American has registered its attitude towards such matters of social concern as the right of opportunity, the inheritance of the stability of classes and the sources of life. The growth of the high school, during the first half century of its existence, was rapid. But within the last generation it has expanded at a rate without precedent in the history of education. From 1890 to 1920 the number of schools increased from about 2500 to 14,000 and the number of students from approximately 200,000 to almost 4,000,000.

At the same time the public expenditure on education increased many times over. A few communities the high school became a source of civic pride. The children of high-school age, children of 18 years, greatly exceeds the 2,000,000 enrolled in the secondary school.

road assertion, but one that is true, that the road carries more traffic than any cross-country trail in the United States is a reason for it. It is the only of a highway reaching from Baltimore, one whose diverging lines from either side a distance of at least 100 miles, is a reason for it. It is the only of the United States lying east of the Mississippi River. So it is no wonder that going all day long one endless procession, a fleet down at any time through the hills and the cars that follow for you and you will have a line of 10 or 12 cars many more than that number. The roads are the greatest investment can make. Hundreds of tourists will praise of Illinois and her hard roads, saying this to be the best trail in the world. They all tipped their hats to Illinois and its roads from coast to coast, Great Lakes to the Gulf.

WELLS OPPOSES TAKING BACK ANTI-WILSON MEN

Speaker Before Women Democrats Says Factions Never Should Be Reconciled.

Former Mayor Rolla Wells, speaking before Democratic women attending a regional conference at Hotel Statler today, said there will "never be any reconciliation between the factions if I can prevent it."

He was speaking of the factions of the Democratic party in Missouri which divided in 1920 over the League of Nations, advocated by President Wilson and opposed by United States Senator Reed. Missouri Democrats repudiated the stand of the Senator during that campaign by refusing to permit him to go to the national convention as a delegate from his home district.

"Just a few days ago, on Armistice day, there was a sorrowful spectacle in the city of Washington," former Mayor Wells said. "There our great leader, in his affliction, entered an indictment that applies to many people in this country—an unanswerable indictment."

"And here I read in the papers there is a movement on foot to conciliate the differences outgrowing from that terrible war so recently ended, outgrowing from that disgraceful failure to support the commander in chief of the nation. There never will be any conciliation between those factions if I have my way."

Applause Follows Declaration.

Loud applause, which appeared to have been participated in by all women present, indicated their approval of the declaration by Wells. This expression of approval is the more important in view of the fact that the Democratic State Committee, meeting here Monday, voted to give women equal voice with men in party affairs in the State.

The declaration by former Mayor Wells, coming so closely upon the granting of full committee privileges to women and in the face of harmony overtures by organization Democrats, was characterized by women at the conference as of far-reaching import. In private comment they said it meant a reopening of the fight which was fought in Missouri in 1920.

The women of the Middle West will be a controlling factor in the 1924 campaign," said one woman. "We are going to demand planks in State and national platforms advocating an association of nations and declaring for law enforcement. The latter will be a sugar-coated declaration in favor of prohibition."

Goltra Also Speaker.

Edward F. Goltra, Missouri Democratic National Committeeman, who also addressed the conference, said failures of the United States to join the League of Nations has resulted in a deplorable financial condition of the farmers in this country. With the United States represented in the league, he asserted, means would be found to dispose of the surplus farm products of this nation.

The conference was called by Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, national committeewoman from Missouri, and vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Four states—Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma—are represented. Iowa is also in the district but failed to send a representative.

A round table discussion of organization policies was held during luncheon and Mrs. Blair presented her organization plans in detail during the afternoon. Congressman Hawes will speak following a dinner tonight.

National committeewomen at the conference besides Mrs. Blair, are Mrs. Florence Gardner Farley of Kansas; Dr. Jennie Callahan of Nebraska; and Mrs. D. A. McDougal of Oklahoma.

RUM, COMMUNISM AND KLAN TOPICS FACING M. E. BISHOPS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Rum, communism and the Ku Klux Klan were subjects loaded with dynamite when the Board of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church began its sessions here yesterday. Whether they were touched in the executive sessions was not divulged, but in anteroom interviews with those assembled from areas in this country and abroad the sentiment seemed to be:

That Prohibition Commissioner Haynes is doing as well as any man could do to enforce the dry law under the circumstances, and that world prohibition is a certainty.

That communism has proved to be a failure and need not be feared here.

That the Klan is undemocratic, un-American and un-Christian.

In the conference were Bishop Thomas Nicholson of Chicago, president of the Antislavery League; Bishop P. J. McConnell of Pittsburgh, who ordered a gathering of klanmen in church to remove their hoods or leave; and Bishop J. L. Neulsen of Zurich, Switzerland, just returned from Russia after a study of conditions under soviet regime.

Bishop W. M. Thirkield of Mexico City said he was so sure of stability of Mexican Government that he had asked President Coolidge to abandon the army forts along the border.

Man on Train Shoots Self.

Wesley Lee, 35 years old, of Sedley, Ind., shot himself in the left breast while on an Illinois Central train, which was entering St. Louis over Merchants' Bridge last evening. He was taken to the City Hospital. He said he had wished to die because he was separated from his wife.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. So do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy very single sign and trace of it. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This is a sure remedy—never fails.

TESTIMONY HEARD ON BRIBE CHARGE AGAINST WALTON

Based on $6000 Raised by Tonkawa Citizens to Gain Approval of Appropriation for School.

GOVERNOR'S FORMER ADVISER QUESTIONED

Aldrich Blake Tells of 'Warning' Executive — Evidence Entirely Circumstantial, Prosecution Admits.

By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Nov. 14.—The prosecution in the impeachment trial of Gov. J. C. Walton today began testimony in support of the charge that the executive received a bribe from citizens of Tonkawa, Ok., for the approval of an appropriation for the Tonkawa preparatory academy.

In an opening statement, the prosecution admitted it would be able to show only by circumstantial evidence that Gov. Walton received any of the alleged bribe, although it would attempt to prove directly that $6000 raised by Tonkawa citizens had passed successively through the hands of Val Gardner, a resident of Oklahoma City, and A. B. Snodgrass, assistant State Highway Commissioner, and a close friend and confidant of the executive.

The statement said that an effort would be made to prove that the money was given to Snodgrass in six $1000 bills, that in a few days Gov. Walton with two other men made a trip to Kansas City and that shortly thereafter the Governor purchased $6700 worth of stock in a building and loan association, making payment mostly in Liberty Bonds.

Nature of the Testimony.
Testimony will also be introduced, according to the statement, to show that when a report of the alleged transaction later became current, Snodgrass went to a hospital where Gardner was ill, advised him to deny all knowledge of the charge, and took him from the hospital to the Governor's office where the executive was in conference with Dr. E. T. Bynum and Aldrich Blake, both of whom were successively executive counsellors. Later, according to the statement, after a legislative inquiry had been instituted, Snodgrass went to Perryville, Mo., where Gardner was at the bedside of a sister who was ill, and renewed his warning.

The statement said that testimony would be introduced to show great intimacy between Snodgrass and the Governor and that the case against the executive would be based on this alleged intimacy and the circumstances of the trip to Kansas City and the purchase of building and loan stock.

Blake was the first witness sworn. He testified that the week after the last regular session of the Legislature adjourned he learned that money was being raised in Tonkawa to "save the school," and that he "warned" the Governor. He said Charles McCloud, the Governor's private detective, also "warned" him by telephone from Tonkawa.

Tells of Conference in Matter.
The witness said that a conference was held in the executive offices in reference to the bribe report at his request and that Snodgrass denied any knowledge of the affair. When the name of Dr. Bynum was brought into the discussion, Blake testified, Bynum also denied knowing anything about it and upon his own authority instructed McCloud to return to Tonkawa and make a complete investigation.

The witness testified that when Bynum advised the Governor what he had done, the executive became violently angry and declared that if an investigation were to be made he would authorize it. Blake said that to the best of his knowledge the investigation was never made.

Taking occasion last night to deny the purported testimony of a former Klan officer that he had subscribed to the oath and paid the initiation fee in the organization the Governor let it be known in a public statement that the matter probably would form an important part of his defense in the trial. At the same time he made public the names of 55 members of the lower House of the State Legislature who, he said, had been represented to him as members of the Klan.

Charge of Conspiracy.
The executive has charged that the Legislature conspired with the Ku Klux Klan to remove him from office.

"I have the facts and circumstances in my possession to meet this issue when it is presented in the hearing," Gov. Walton declared in asserting that while "strenuous" efforts were made by klansmen to have him join the organization, he did not subscribe to the oath nor did he pay the membership fee.

The Klan angle re-entered the situation yesterday when a House Investigating Committee made public the testimony of Dr. W. T. Tilly, former "cyclops" of the Muskogee Klan. Dr. Tilly was quoted as having said he administered the oath to the Governor last February and collected the regular entrance fee of $10 from him at the same time. Dr. A. E. Davenport, State Health Commissioner and a member of the Klan

BLIND WAR VETERANS
URGE TRAINING CENTER

Forty, in Convention Here, Aim to Raise Standard of Blind Person's Work.

Forty men are meeting in St. Louis this week "to do their bit" for persons afflicted like themselves. They are delegates to the second annual convention of the United States Blind Veterans of the World War. All are totally or partially blind.

The sessions of this unusual convention are being held at the Disabled Veterans' Club, 3737 West Pine boulevard, and are markedly cheerful.

The most cheerful member of the convention is Carl Bronner, who had both hands shot off and his sight destroyed by an enemy shell. This man is studying law in Baltimore.

His legal training has given him knowledge of the correct method of convention procedure and woe to the member who makes the error of being out of order. Bronner's "Ape" is always the loudest, and when the occasion demands his "No" rings out equally buoyantly. Bronner plans to practice law in the East, following his graduation from the University of Maryland.

For National Training Center. The chief purpose of the convention, as expressed by Raymond E. Day, national commander of the Blind Veterans, is the establishment of a national training center for adult blind. "That is our idea of doing our bit," Day said yesterday. "We wish to bring home to the American public that although blind, we are not through. We wish to raise the standard of blind persons' work above making brooms and chair caning. Our curriculum at the Evergreen School for the Blind, at Baltimore, includes poultry raising, typewriting, printing, massage and instruction in other arts and trades. We feel that every adult blind person should have the same chance to raise himself above the making of brooms. Seventy per cent of the blind persons in America are adults, but the training is confined generally to children. If our efforts are in any way responsible for the establishment of training for all blind adults, both civilian and military, we will feel that we are truly doing our bit."

Ask for Congressional Action. Day was a Lieutenant in the Thirty-seventh Division when an enemy shell destroyed his sight and nearly fractured his neck.

REPORT SPENCER MIGHT URGE LAW PARTNER FOR JUDGESHIP

Senator Said to Have Stated Objection to Garesche Would Apply Also to Hogan.

It is reported around the city hall that Senator Spencer, failing to procure the appointment of Circuit Judge Vital W. Garesche as United States District Judge, will try to get the job for his law partner, Forrest C. Donnell.

The story, specifically, is that in-doorers of Judge Granville Hogan, Mayor Kiel's son-in-law, as an alternate, were told by Senator Spencer that the same objection, politics, would be made to Hogan as to Garesche, and that his second choice was Donnell.

The Senator, however, would not admit today that his preference was for Donnell over Hogan if Garesche were not appointed. "I have no second choice," he said.

Zev Strong Favorite to Beat In Memoriam in Return Match; Track Odds to be About 1 to 2

Owners Sinclair and Hildreth Confident Big Son of McGhee Will Reverse Latonia Verdict—Wise Counsellor, $66,000 Colt, May Suffer Defeat by Happy Thoughts.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 14.—With the match race between Zev and In Memoriam and the $35,000 Kentucky Jockey Club stakes, in which Wise Counsellor and Happy Thoughts, among two of the best 2-year olds developed this season, will measure strides, the racing card for Saturday at Churchill Downs has not been equalled on any course in America this year.

And it will not cost $22 to view the contest, prices remaining normal, strange to say.

Happy Thoughts is a filly which was undefeated until she met the unbeaten Sarazen in a match race at Laurel, a fortnight ago. She ran against Sarazen on a soft course, and proved her undoing. That Happy Thoughts is a speed marvel was shown on more than one occasion and it may be that she will give the $66,000 Wise Counsellor the race of his life.

In the event that the first part of the mile, Saturday, some other sturdy youngster may come along and grab the long end of the big stakes.

Happy Thoughts will arrive from Baltimore some time today. She is under the care of Jim McClelland, who, in private advice, says Happy Thoughts is in fine fettle and that she will stamp out her only defeat when she runs Saturday.

Zev Already Favorite.
Zev is going to be the favorite for the match Saturday. That much is a sure thing. He will range around 1 to 2 in the mutuels. In Memoriam consequently will be as good as 8 to 1 or better. The big betting public generally strings with Hildreth in big events.

One story is going the rounds that Sinclair and Hildreth hedged considerably in the international match race between Zev and Papyrus. When the English champion turned in his fast trial a few days before the big race, it is said, that Hildreth managed his money so that he would win $40,000 whether Zev won or lost on the big race.

Several big bookmakers got wind of the "hedge" and one of the "layers" lost heavily when Zev won, as he got the Papyrus fever and laid the Rancocas colt "even money" for a large sum. This story evidently is true for the two colts were around "even money take your pick" the day of the race.

Zev's Owners Confident.
There will be no hedging on the part of the Hildreth connections next Saturday, though, as it is known that both Sinclair and Hildreth are confident that Zev can trim In Memoriam over the Churchill Downs course at one mile and a quarter.

While Hildreth offered no excuses for Zev's defeat in the Latonia championship race, he avers that Zev was not at his best that day, nor was his own, nor Hildreth's. The reason for this, so Hildreth's friends claim, was that the track was what is known as "creaky," and that it was a different footing from any the eastern colts had ever experienced. Again, Zev expected no such opposition as he got from In Memoriam. It is probable that Zev did not run his race at Latonia; but there was nothing wrong with the race for the standpoint of the best colt winning under the conditions. Whether In Memoriam outran himself or caught his competitors off their feed and feet from long railroad travel, will be proved conclusively when they meet.

In Memoriam in Shape.
Trainer Bob Gilmore, who looks after In Memoriam, said after the big McGee colt galloped a mile yesterday in 1:43 2-5 with 130 pounds up, that his charge was in the best condition of his career and he had no fears but that he would again prove Zev's master. He looked as if he meant it when he said it, too.

Should Zev win the match race Saturday he will have won during his racing career more than $300,000. This would place him at the top of the rung as the largest money-winning horse of all time. Should In Memoriam defeat Zev he will have passed the $100,000 mark for wins.

The Washington University cross-country team, which has defeated Drake and Rolla teams within the last month, will compete at Lawrence, Saturday. The local team, headed by Capt. Shirley Capps, is one of the strongest that has represented the Pikeaway in years.

JIMMY DELANEY GIVEN DRAW WITH COLIMA
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 14.—In a last round come-back, James G. Delaney, light heavyweight of St. Paul, Minnesota, will draw with Bert Colima, champion of the Pacific Coast middleweight title. Awar McLean, banamweight, won a decision over California Joe Lynch.

EXCHANGE RATES DECLINE; STOCKS LITTLE CHANGED

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The financial review today says: "Today's stock market revealed little change in the volume or character of trading as compared with yesterday, or for that matter, in the level of prices. Industrials continued to be irregular from the start and after a fresh burst of strength in the morning, again under the leadership of Erie, were very little changed at the close. The market, in other words, rested after recent advances. Total sales came close to the million. Bonds also appeared to be digesting recent advances, and the rate on call money, after opening at 4 1/2 per cent, was raised to 5 per cent soon after 2 o'clock.

Exchange Rates Decline. "Another sharp break occurred in the foreign exchange market. The weakness originated at London and occurred on this side was reported to be for foreign account. In any event, sterling dropped to a new low for the year of 24.24, a new low of 24 cents on the dollar. The French franc meanwhile lost 13 points at 24 1/2 cents, which is very close to the franc and Italian, and offered similar general decline here, as a whole, not seriously affected by the general decline in the news, but rather by the uncertainty regarding the German situation and the British election and to speculative operations.

Cotton Consumption Report. "Excited trading and wide fluctuations continued in the cotton market. The Census Bureau's consumption report, which showed that 24,000 bales were taken by our mills during October, as compared with 24,000 bales in September, was taken as bullish, although the difference is just about the working days in the month. In any event, the market rallied about 15 cents despite a decline at Liverpool. The bulls brought out heavy liquidation and a 40-cent rally resulted. With May below 32 cents, the future was able to take hold and the price of 32 cents at a late hour, a net gain of 1/2 cent. Trading in grain remained devoid of striking features and December wheat gained 1/2 cent at 11 1/2.

Steel Industry Situation. "The monotony of the mid-week reviews of the steel trade is relieved by greater activity in pig iron. The price of this commodity is still weak, but inquiries are reported to be large in months and there are signs that ahead buyers are about to re-enter the market. With a view to re-firming up, the trade is alive to the possibility that the long awaited turn in the iron market is at hand. Meanwhile the iron age is reducing stocks against the first of the year, while producers are attempting to put to demand and are maintaining a firm front in the matter of prices. The steel companies are now estimated to be running at about 46 per cent of capacity with the index slightly below the 70 per cent level.

MEN—THERE'S A LADY DUOFOLD WITH WIDE GOLD GIRDLE FOR HER MONOGRAM—33

If the Women overhear Men's Christmas wishes

The Duofolds will all be sold in 2 weeks

Yes, a New Gift at Last—the Princely Pen
 With a Point that will last them to ripe old age

IF social custom only permitted a bit of eavesdropping before Christmas, women would learn from men's own lips that man after man is wishing for this newest of gifts. The classic pen that they'll prize to a ripe old age because of its super-smooth point, guaranteed 25 years.

Giving this princely pen reveals your gallantry—for the world ranks Parker Duofold highest. No other we know of, not even at half the price, has ever had such sales.

Even the Duofold's black-tipped lacquer-red color abounds with Christmas cheer. A color that's handsome and gold, and makes this a hard pen to lose. Other makers are copying this color, and also the plain black Duofold; so look for this stamp of the genuine—"Geo. S. Parker—DUOFOLD—Lucky Curve."

Look carefully—you don't want it said that you own, or gave, a "Near-duofold."

Only the Parker has the 25-Year Duofold Point with a super-smooth tip of polished Iridium that costs us $2340 a pound. And mark you—no years of use can wear it away—no style of writing can distort it.

This point in a pen so shapely and balanced that your hand can't resist its urge!

An Over-size Barrel provides a large ink capacity. Strong Gold Girdle was $1 extra—now free. Neat Gold Pocket-clip or Gold Ribbon-ring included, too.

Already the princely givers are thronging the Duofold counters in 25,000 stores. Yes, Christmas Headquarters is just around the corner. Get an early pick.

BOARD UPSETS POLICE TELEPHONE TRADITION

Chief's Call Over Other Than Department Line Official,
 Former Sergeant Learns.

Not once in Patrick Moynihan's 24 years of experience as a police officer had the Chief of Police called him over a Bell or Kinloch telephone. On the few occasions Sgt. Moynihan conversed with the Chief they had used the police telephone system.

Thus, when on Oct. 31 a second-hand furniture dealer held out an ordinary telephone receiver and said, "The Chief wants to speak to you," Sgt. Moynihan shook his head. No use to try anything like that on him. Col. O'Brien wouldn't be calling over a public line. It had never been done. It wasn't in the police manual.

Substance of Defense.

Such was the sum and substance of the Sergeant's defense before the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday afternoon. He had not neglected his duty, he said, in refusing to speak to his superior officer. Police officers never used public telephones for business. He turned to Patrolman Dundon, one of the witnesses, and asked him if ever in Patrolman Dundon's 32 years on the force had he heard of a public phone being used.

The patrolman said he hadn't. Triumph flushed the Sergeant's face. By all the laws and regulations Chief of Police O'Brien should not have been on the other end of the furniture dealer's wire. Besides, the Sergeant said he remembered that it was Col. O'Brien's habit to leave his office every day at 3 p. m.—a habit of years. And here it was 3:30 p. m. Was it human to expect a Police Sergeant to believe that on this particular day Col. O'Brien had stayed on the job later than usual? As it turned out he really had, but was the Sergeant to be blamed for miracles?

Scene for Momentous Events.

The Board of Police Commissioners sat sternly behind their black oak judgment desk. The Sergeant stood, gray haired and defiant, in the middle of the floor. The Chief himself and Police Inspector Vasey and Capt. Nally and Lieut. Wetzel, all blue uniforms and brass buttons and gold badges, sat at the counsel table to one side. Austere light filtered through leaded windows to make somber the oaken wainscoting of the board chamber.

One felt that a momentous decision was pending.

Chief of Police O'Brien arose.

"The honorable board has heard Sgt. Moynihan's statement," said the Chief. "I just want to say that you should remember he refused to speak to me. If you go and let the Sergeant be disrespectful and refuse to speak to his Chief there's no telling what'll happen to this Police Department. That's all I've got to say."

As he sat down President Brockman got up.

Questioned by Brockman.

"You still feel that you did right in not answering the phone, do you Sergeant?" he asked.

"I did just what any other policeman would have done; yes, sir," was the reply.

"You mean to say that just because a Chief hadn't used a public telephone for 32 years to give orders you felt justified in concluding that it wasn't the Chief and refusing to go?"

"Yes, sir."

The Sergeant gulped, wavered in tradition for a moment and then squared his shoulders. "I'd do the same thing again, sir," he declared.

"You weren't right, were you, Sergeant?" Didn't you have your revolver?"

The Sergeant had his revolver and he wasn't afraid of any man. Perhaps he had been mistaken. But he thought he was right. He had thought he was right that time he rushed single-handed into an alley near Sixth and Market streets to fight four gangsters. Did the Honorable Board remember? And the time he had got cut up—maybe that was a mistake.

"We're not asking for your biography, Sergeant," said President Brockman.

Demoted to Patrolman.

The Sergeant pushed his notes into his overcoat pocket—he was in civilian garb and stood awaiting sentence.

"We're running a modern police department," said Brockman to the room in general, while smiles crinkled the faces of Commissioners Moore and Young. "In the pressure of police business it may sometimes be necessary for the Chief of Police to use a public telephone to give orders."

Sergeant Moynihan knew he was done for. He had followed tradition and here was the president of the Police Board telling him something new.

The board filed out. Presently Brockman came back and announced, "Sergeant, you have been demoted to the rank of patrolman."

Patrolman Moynihan saluted and stumbled out.

Insubordination Also Charged.

Chief of duty hadn't been the only charge. When Inspector Vasey tried to help him he had said he knew he was in the right and didn't need help.

That was insubordination.

The trouble started when the Sergeant went to the shop of J. H. Rights at 1407 North Market street on petition of one of Rights' customers who had a complaint against the dealer. Rights ordered the Sergeant to leave and called the Chief of Police when he refused.

Sore Throat

NEARLY all forms of sore throat are due to germ infection. Prompt relief therefore cannot be obtained without the use of a powerful germicide. Although more powerful in the presence of saliva than pure Carbolic Acid, Zonite can be freely used as a gargle or throat spray at sufficient strength to destroy all disease germs with which it comes in contact.

The promptness with which Zonite relieves most throat affections has been a revelation to tens of thousands of users of this new form of antiseptic.

Fillmore Plans to Buck

A CONTINUED STORY

"The Follies" With Revue

It seemed to Sally in the weeks that followed her reunion with Ginger Kemp that a sort of golden age had set in. In all the frontiers of her little kingdom there was peace and prosperity, and she woke each morning in a world so neatly smoothed and ironed out that the most captious pessimist could hardly have found anything in it to criticize.

True, Gerald was still a thousand miles away. Going to superintend the opening of "The Primrose Way," for Fillmore had acceded to his friend Ike's suggestion in the matter of producing it first in Chicago, and he had been called in by a distracted manager to revise the work of a brother dramatist, whose comedy was in difficulties at one of the theaters in that city; and this meant he would have to remain on the spot for some time to come.

It was disappointing, for Sally had been looking forward to having him back in New York in a few days; but she refused to allow herself to be depressed. Life as a whole was much too satisfactory for that. Life indeed, in every other respect, seemed perfect. Fillmore was going strong; Ginger was off her conscience; she had found an apartment; her new hat suited her; and "The Primrose Way" was a tremendous success. Chicago, it appeared from Fillmore's account, was paying little attention to anything except "The Primrose Way." National problems had ceased to interest the citizens. Local problems left them cold. Their minds were riveted to the exclusion of all else to the problem of how to secure seats. The production of the piece, according to Fillmore, had been the most terrific experience that had

But Kemp Collected $50 Week, Anyway

But, though there might be an occasional passing uncertainty in Ginger's mind as to just what he was supposed to be doing in exchange for the fifty dollars he drew every Friday, there was nothing uncertain about his gratitude to Sally for having pulled the strings and enabled him to do it. He tried to thank her every time they met, and nowadays they were meeting frequently; for Ginger was helping her to furnish her new apartment. In this task, he spared no efforts. He said that it kept him in condition.

"And what I mean to say is," said Ginger, pausing in the act of carrying a massive easy chair to the third spot which Sally had selected in the last 10 minutes, "if I didn't sweat about a bit and help you after the way you got me that job!"

"Ginger, desist," said Sally. "Yes, but honestly!" "If you don't stop it, I'll make you move that chair into the next room."

Sally's Egotism Runs True to Form

Sally sat down in the armchair and stretched herself. Watching Ginger work had given her a vicarious fatigue. She surveyed the room proudly. It was certainly beginning to look cozy. The pictures were up, the carpet down, the furniture very nearly in order. For almost the first time in her life she had the restful sensation of being at home. She had always longed, during the past three years of boarding-house existence, for a settled abode, a place where she could lock the door on herself and be alone. The apartment was small, but it was undeniably a haven. She looked about her and could see no flaw in it.

"Hullo!" she said. "Where's that photograph of me? I'm sure I put it on the mantelpiece yesterday."

His exertions seemed to have brought the blood to Ginger's face. He was a rich red. He inspected the mantelpiece narrowly.

"No. No photograph here."

"I know there isn't. But it was there yesterday. Or was it? I know I meant to put it there. Perhaps I forgot. It's the most beautiful thing you ever saw. Not a bit like me; but what of that? They touch 'em up in the darkroom, you know. I value it because it looks the way I should look if I could."

"I've never had a beautiful photograph taken of myself," said Ginger, solemnly, with gentle regret.

"Cheer up!" "Oh, I don't mind. I only mentioned it."

: Good Will :

By Sophie Irene Loeb.

A MAN sold out his business and retired. His biggest asset in the proposition was his "good will," that is, he had built up an honest commercial enterprise. He had paid his bills promptly and had made many friends in the trade.

He had developed a prosperous, going concern, but he was in poor health and gave it up. The people who purchased the place realized that it was just a little "new blood" that was needed and they could make a big thing out of it.

In truth, they bought the name of the man more than anything else. It is what is called good will in business.

Every individual who builds up good will for himself builds up something most valuable indeed. For example, I know a woman in very moderate circumstances. She is a dressmaker and she has credit everywhere because she has rarely ever contracted a bill that she could not pay.

She has been very careful to discount her bills, that is, to pay them within a certain time limit, and thus she has made a place for herself wherein she can go forward and plan to do things, knowing that she will get credit with which to do them.

She was developing her business and therefore had very little cash on hand all the time. During a big slump in the market recently she was left with too much stock on hand, and in fact became bankrupt on account of it.

Yet every one of her creditors came forward to help her, and each took a small loss to straighten out the situation, and she is getting credit just as if she had never been declared insolvent. This is because of the nature of the woman, the habit she has of paying her bills.

The credit she knows the tendency of the person who pays down, as a general proposition always will help him to get up.

It is the same in social matters. Good will may build up in your social life things of great importance.

: Children's Bedtime Story :

By Thornton W. Burgess

"Shall I?" Ginger rubbed his blistered hands and took a new grip. "Anything you say."

"Sally! Of course not. The only other rooms are my bedroom, the bathroom and the kitchen. What on earth would I want a great lumbering chair in them for? All the same, I believe the first we chose was the best."

"Back she goes, then, what?" Sally reflected, frowningly. This business of setting up house was causing her much trouble.

"No," she decided. "By the window is better." She looked at him remorsefully. "I'm giving you a lot of trouble."

"Trouble!" Ginger, accompanied by the chair, staggered across the room. "The way I look at it is this. He wiped a bead of perspiration from his forehead. "You got me that job, and!"

"Stop!" "Right ho. . . Still, you did, you know."

"Ginger," said Sally, "pardon my interrupting your remarks, which I know are valuable, but this chair is—not—right! It ought to be where it was at the beginning. Could you give your imitation of a packmule just once more? And after that I'll make you some tea. If there's any tea—or milk—or cups."

"There are cups all right. I know, because I smashed two the day before yesterday. I'll nip round the corner for some milk, shall I?"

"Yes, please nip. All this hard work has taken it out of me terribly."

Over the tea-table Sally became inquisitive.

"What I can't understand about this job of yours, Ginger—which as you are just about to observe, I was noble enough to secure for you—is the amount of leisure that seems to go with it. How is it that you are able to spend your valuable time—Fillmore's valuable time, rather—juggling with my furniture every day?"

"Oh, I can usually get off."

"But oughtn't you to be at your post doing—whatever it is you do? What do you do?"

Ginger stirred his tea thoughtfully and gave his mind to the question.

"Well, I sort of mess about, you know," He pondered. "I interview divers blighters and tell 'em your brother is out and take their names and addresses and . . . oh, all that sort of thing."

With this he opened a little door

Many Other St. Louis Women Are Achieving Success as Writers

Miss Temple Bailey Reaches High Mark of Her Career With Six "Best Sellers"—Patience Worth Noted as "Ghost" Writer.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.

CONTINUING the chapter begun last week on St. Louis women who are winning distinction in literary fields, one who may be said to have arrived at the pinnacle of success is Miss Temple Bailey, with six novels to her credit, each of which has been a "best seller" following its publication and with her latest book, "The Dim Lantern," included in the list of "best sellers," compiled by the book trade statistics for more than a year now and with its sales passing their seventy-fifth thousand some time since.

St. Louis, however, may not claim to be the starting point of Miss Bailey's career. She came here recently from Washington to be with her mother who has been making her home with another daughter, Mrs. Paul V. Bunn, 501 Clara avenue.

Before she began to write novels this author had established a reputation as a writer of short stories, her work appearing in the best paying magazines as well as some of those of greater literary assumptions.

With her first novel she was extremely fortunate in her choice of publisher. It was brought out by the same house which had so successfully exploited the books of the late Myrtle Reed, and which was looking for a successor to this popular writer of love stories and believed in Miss Bailey's style. It saw the promise of just such another success. Miss Bailey has more than justified the faith of the astute publisher, for, with what his methods of presentation and their popular appeal, her novels have been successful from the very first. And now it is said the publisher contracts for advance of her writing for Miss Bailey's books at what seem like fabulous figures to those writers who must go seeking a publisher.

Writing in the light of her success, she will sustain the success of her first novel.

Speaking of Mrs. Hutchings, I am reminded that probably St. Louis' most famous woman writer of all is a ghost, Patience Worth. Who has not heard of her? But whether she belongs to literary or to psychic realms is a question.

The literary merit of her productions, based upon Elizabethan standards since they are written in old English, has been enthusiastically praised by many authorities. But with Mrs. John H. Curran, her transcriber at times assisted by Mrs. Hutchings, the publisher, both denying all responsibility except as mediums for the poems, stories and even novels which have appeared under the signature of Patience Worth, and there being no more tangible evidence of her own existence, it is difficult to write of this author's career.

Besides, taking Mrs. Curran's word for it, Patience lived so long ago that though her literary success has been within the generation, she hardly belongs in the category of coming literary lights.

Patience Worth Credited With Voluminous Work.

This, however, may be said of Mrs. Curran, that however, sceptical any of us may be of her self-acknowledging profession, she is not in any sense to be classed among the cheap, pretentious type of spiritualistic mediums. She leans far away from charlatanism. Despite the fact that voluminous works attributed to Patience Worth have been published and sold, Mrs. Curran avers not a cent of money has been made from them, that expenses have far exceeded the income from them.

And whatever may be the standing of Patience Worth as a phenomenon or an unique literary achievement, persons of the highest standing in psychical research have given most serious regard to all Mrs. Curran's demonstrations.

Aside from the works attributed to Patience Worth, Mrs. Curran has had one short story in an entirely different style, which she does acknowledge as her very own, published in the Saturday Evening Post.

A picturesque career of a young St. Louis woman now attaining distinction in the world of letters is that of Elizabeth Breuer.

As an editor, as well as a writer of articles from the modern feminist viewpoint, she is distinguishing herself.

She has done much work for various magazines in the literary and editorial capacity, according to short biography printed in connection with an article from her pen in The Bookman.

Her latest accounts she was connected in this capacity with the Ladies' Home Journal.

While a reporter on the St. Louis Times Bessie Freedman was married to Otto Breuer, a promising young newspaperman on the Post-Dispatch staff. He died after they removed to New York and Elizabeth Breuer, as she prefers to be known, is now the wife of Carl Kahler, a modernistic artist, and the mother of a 7-year-old daughter, Ann Kahler. Her engagement on the Tribune came about through a letter addressed personally to Mrs. Ogden M. Reid, wife of the owner and actively interested in the conduct of the paper, criticizing the woman's section and suggesting how it might be improved. Apparently the suggestions impressed Mrs. Reid. The young woman was given the opportunity to make the changes and they were immediately noticeable.

Instead of the stereotyped, conventional section it had been the Tribune woman's section took on an aspect of modernism with less of catering to the old-fashioned domestic type of woman and more of dies' Home Journal, one of her duties being to interview women prominent in the public eye and arrange for articles to be written by them for that publication.

Also a number of articles and editorials under her own signature have appeared in the Journal.

During the war years she was a director of the Red Cross Bureau of Magazines. Before that, "at the age of 28 she was Sunday editor of the New York Tribune, the second woman to hold such a position in New York," to quote The Bookman again.

Previous to going to New York we know she was editor of the women's section of the St. Louis Star, and that her first newspaper work was as a reporter on the St. Louis Times.

The picturesque feature in the history of Bessie Freedman as we know her is the fact that she was born in what is known as the Ghetto. Her father, a Russian Jewish immigrant, was a cantor in an orthodox synagogue. She attended the Jefferson School at Ninth and Carr and lived in that neighborhood until she went to the State University where she took the course in journalism. She is a product of the melting pot.

While being assimilated, however, it is to be noted that she stood out as a personality indomitable. She was a leader in the activities at old Self Culture Hall, the Jewish Alliance and Crummen Library, very hotbeds in those days, of political and intellectual insurrection.

Shirley Seifert Meets With Success.

A substantial, sustainable as well as brilliant success is rewarding the efforts of Miss Shirley Seifert, who while selling her output in the Eastern markets, continues to reside with her family at 5775 De Giverville avenue.

Since the publication of her first story in February, 1919, she has steadily made the grade of better and better magazines with the size of her cheques proportionately larger and the rejection slips becoming correspondingly fewer.

Three stories have appeared in the Saturday Evening Post; others in the Ladies' Home Journal, McCall's, Detective, Metropolitan, American, Good Housekeeping and Scribner's. McCall's gives first place to a Christmas story by Miss Seifert in its current issue.

This summer she finished her first novel, dispatching it to an unknown publisher. Now she is waiting to hear its fate. If it is accepted, it will not be in the nature of an accident. One does not associate that word with Miss Seifert. For in addition to imaginative gifts she is methodical, workmanlike, all her creative work is based upon a firm foundation of sincerity, knowledge and education in technique.

She is that efficient, orderly minded type who, one feels, would have succeeded at any undertaking to which she might have turned.

Upon her graduation from Washington University she became a teacher, stepping at once into the high school ranks. During the war she resigned from teaching to work with the Liberty Loan organization. Following this she went to Wisconsin University to take the course in journalism. The instructors there began whiffing away the time spinning short stories from a typewriter. At first these were detective stories. From the very first she found a market for her output among the higher class of fiction magazines. Recently she has essayed the medium of verse with quite a great success. Business instinct is a ruling factor in her case. She writes with a view of selling and rarely fails to cash in on her productions. Her style is smart, sophisticated, racy, growing more so as the years go on, though under the afterglow of the war there is a perceptible vein of satire and of philosophy which leads her literary friends to hope she may some day find time to interview some of the things she has written.

Stories Characterized by Truth and Charm.

Upon the same principle, she writes to the theory of selling, and she does not to the theory of publishing. One already has sold, she enters into the transaction to be seen, she is the son, honest with herself with others.

Her stories are characterized by truth, by clearness, by a certain charm. They are not imaginative or fanciful, they never verge on the introspective, or upon the phases of life. In short, the keen uncompropromising of her personality look upon life.

Another young woman, great success in literary wares to the St. Louis Corinne Harris, who has been having a volume of 55 short stories called "In Pursuit of a Dream" by Miss Seifert in its current issue.

She is a local publisher. She leans to the humorous style. One story, "The Editor," with the editorial, "Twenty-first century romance," which already has been published in a number of magazines and is now pursuing the elusive quest of success as a play.

While she has been adding to an income which already has been a dash, aside from her earnings as a writer by doing a weekly dramatic review which has been syndicated to a number of newspapers and by teaching bridge. Just recently she has become a hostess at the famous Shepard Studio where she previously had taught bridge.

Mrs. Hatterley is a striking personality, extremely handsome, and a most deal of social attention cannot help but interfere with her absorption in literary work. She has traveled in Europe, spending some time in Paris.

Just recently we have been hearing of the sudden success of Mrs. Elmer Maxwell. Her story, "The Editor," is also today a stimulating single hair to grow thick, long your hair, just make a little of this stuff disappear. ### A CONFESSION BY THE OPPOSITION.

ON THE first of September Ringling Brothers' Circus was to show at Shreveport. The crews of the advance cars had done their work and every billboard and dead wall in town blazed with colored paper giving the date of the great event and the pledge: "Rain or shine—two performances, afternoon and night!"

A colored resident stood in front of a boarding enjoying the pictures of promised wonders and laboriously spelling out the accompanying legends. A friend, not so well educated, joined him.

"Hot dam!" said the first darky. "Ole Ringling Bruders 'll soon be yore. Dey sho' is got one noble circus. Dey ain't no circus kin come up to their's."

"Don't talk foolish," admonished his companion. "I ain't denyin' but what dem Ringling boys is got a good circus. But de best show dey is de ole John Robinson show."

"Dar you go—shootin' off yo' mouf an' showin' yore ignorance," said Number One. "W'y, alger, it say right yere on dis yere billboard dat de Ringling Circus is de greatest show on earth."

"Right dar!" The Ringling champion spelled out the words:
"Greatest Show On Earth."

"Mebbe you is right," admitted the second negro. Then his eye fell on the bottom line of the inscription. "Hole on a minute!" he cried sharply. "You ain't read it all yet. What does dem last words spell?"

"G-e-t-t-1," spelled out the educated negro.

"Uh huh, what did I tell you?" proclaimed his friend. "Greatest show on earth, 'cept one an' dat one is ole Mister John Robinson's Show."

It was all over so quickly that the employees, Ernest Meyer, chief clerk, and Albert James, were not quite sure whether three or four men had robbed them. Nor could they be sure of the make of the robber car, though they thought it was Marmon or a Cadillac. A black number, furnished to Collinsville police as that of the machine, proved to be that of a Hummobile owned by a resident of Carrier's Mills, in the Southern Illinois mine region.

Meyer and James had gone to the State Bank of Collinsville before 8
a. m. on their semi-monthly visit
to obtain payroll money for the employees at the company's mine south of town. They drove from the bank, on Main street, to the company's office on Seminary street in Meyer's automobile. They did not notice particularly the larger of which followed them.

None of Robbers Masked.
While the robbers were on the sidewalk two or three men remaining in the machine. None of the men so far as Meyer and James saw, was masked.

When the robbers had jumped back into the car it ran up Main street and turned west, but did not turn into the National Trail highway, and ran instead into a "blind" street, Wing avenue. Cursing at the mistake, the highwaymen shouted
a pedestrian for directions, and the car then backed and turned at furious pace, and soon hit the National Trail. Chief of Police
James and local peace officers followed soon afterward, but did not get within sight of the party, and the robbers were headed for St.
Louis, 10 miles away, when they were under way after their brief stay.

The police of East St. Louis, Belleville, Edwardsville and St. Louis were notified to watch for them, a news of the robbery, broadcast
radio, was picked up at points
throughout Missouri and Illinois.

Officials Go to Collinsville.
Officers of the Consolidated Coal
Co. from the main office, in St. Louis, went to Collinsville on being informed of the robbery.

The circumstances of the Collin-ville robbery were similar to those of the robbery at Avery Mine No. 1
of the Southern Coal, Coke and W. ing Co., near Belleville, Oct. 23,
that case, the amount taken was about $12,600, and the speed with which the robbers worked was famous.

The Avery holdup occurred at the mine, after two employees of company had arrived on a street car carrying the money, which had been obtained from a St. Louis bank.
Three or four men jumped from curtained automobiles, and threw volvers against the two men heads. The employees said it was over in what seemed to them to be the space of about 10 seconds.

In the Collinsville case, one of robbers had a riot gun. The automobile used by the Avery robbers
was stolen in St. Louis.
